

PANEL SCHEDULE

Saturday, February 23, 2013

Venue: IR Building – 154 Bay State Rd., Boston University

9:30am: Participant Breakfast

10:30am: Session 1

Middle East & North Africa, Room 102	Moderator: Professor Stephen Kinzer
Louise Klann/ Boston University, MA Candidate in International Relations	The Muslim Brotherhood’s Egypt: The interplay between Islam, dictatorship, and democracy in Egypt’s post-revolutionary turmoil
Claire Councilman/ Boston University, MA Candidate in International Relations & International Communication	The Struggle for the Equality of Egyptian Women Under Islamic Law and Society
Meredith Canniff/ George Washington University, MA Candidate in International Policy & Practice	Failing Up: Improving Education in the Middle Eastern and North African Regions

South & East Asia, Room 202	Moderator: Professor Min Ye
Yongdong Shen & Kenichiro Yashima/ Zhejiang University, Public Administration	Private business associations lobbying in China
Yuxing Huang/ Boston College, PhD Candidate in Political Science	A Regional Dynamic Theory of a Great Power’s Behavior in Asymmetric Power Politics: The Deviant Case of China’s South Asia Policy (1949-62)
Kelly DeAngelis/ Boston University, MA Candidate in International Relations & Environmental Policy	Fragmentation in Climate Change Policy in China and India

12:00pm: Lunch Break

1:00pm: Session 2

Global Financial Crises & Conflicts, Room 102	Moderator: Professor Cornel Ban
Laurel Celastine Mazur/ University of Denver, MA Candidate in Global Finance, Trade, & Economic Integration/ Economics	The 2008 Global Financial Crisis: A Cause or Result of Organizational Fragmentation within the International Monetary Fund?
June Park/ Boston University, PhD Candidate in International Relations & International Political Economy	Resorting to International Institutions to Resolve Trade Imbalances? U.S. Protectionism via USITC and WTO Dispute Initiation
William N. Kring/ Boston University, MA Candidate in International Relations	Examining the Role of Institutions and Ideation in the Global Financial Crisis: A Comparison of U.S. and EU Responses
Jessica Finocchiaro/ Suffolk University, MA Candidate in Public Administration, Political Science	How Policy Governed the Celtic Tiger into the Great Recession: A Comparative Policy Analysis between Ireland and the United States

Global Issues of Human Rights, Room 202	Moderator: Professor Tim Longman
Matthew B. Duffy/ Boston University, MA Candidate in International Relations & Religion	China & the West: The "Universality" of Human Rights
Robert Ward/ Boston University, MA Candidate in Global Development Policy	Ethnic Conflict as Contesting Development in Burma
Mary Kate Long/ Boston University, MA Candidate in International Relations & Religion	Dynamics of State, Sangha and Society in Myanmar: A Closer Look at the Rohingya Issue

2:30pm: Session 3

Globalization & Development Issues, Room 102	Moderator: Professor Michael Woldemariam
Zophia Edwards/ Boston University, PhD Candidate in Sociology	The Class Legacies of Colonial Rule upon Democracy in Developing Countries
Kiri Gurd/ Boston University, PhD Candidate in Sociology	Bringing Values Back into Global Professions: Truth Commissions Professionals as First Generation True Believers
Jared C Woollacott/ Boston University, PhD Candidate in Earth & Environment	Choosing Channels: Allocation of Foreign Aid across Bilateral and Multilateral Institutions

Global Cooperation & Fragmentation, Room 202	Moderator: Professor Kaija Schilde
Gary Winslett/ Boston College, PhD Candidate in Political Science	It's Not The Water; It's What the Water Does: A Means-Centered Analysis of Riparian Relations
Meghan Tinsley/ Boston University, PhD Candidate in Sociology	From Colonized Subjects to Terrorist Thugs: Muslims and British National Identity
Eliza Osmani/ Boston University, MA Candidate in International Relations & International Communications	The Sounds of Silence: The struggle for democratization in Mexico