IMPORTANT NOTE:

The Boston University School of Public Health Student Handbook is published once a year by the Office for Student Services. Boston University and the School of Public Health reserve the right to change the policies, fees, curricula, or any other matter in this publication without prior notice and to cancel programs and courses. This publication is to be read neither as part of a contractual agreement nor as a guarantee of the classes, courses, or programs described herein.

ABOUT THE SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH:

The Boston University School of Public Health was established in 1976. It is one of 17 Schools within Boston University. It is the twenty-second school of public health founded in the United States.

Stressing the practical application of an exceptional education to the complex challenges facing public health professionals today, BUSPH has grown tremendously in recent years with more than 4,000 alumni, 140 full-time faculty, and students from over 40 countries. In keeping with the School's service-oriented philosophy, each department combines research and academics with a practicum requirement, resulting in a rigorous, well-rounded curriculum enhanced by work experience in a public health environment.

Through longstanding collaborations with such institutions as the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, the Boston Public Health Commission, and the Veterans Affairs Administration; and through international alliances with the Red Cross, the Peace Corps, NGO's, and foreign governments, our students, faculty, and alumni draw on their own diverse backgrounds to carry out the School's mission in a variety of settings.

ABOUT THE TALBOT BUILDING:

The Talbot Building, an example of Queen Anne architecture, was designed by William Ralph Emerson in 1873. The building was named for Dr. Israel Tisdale Talbot, a leading figure in the American homeopathic movement and first dean of the Boston University School of Medicine. The central wing was built in 1876 to house the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital, formerly the Homeopathic Medical Dispensary, which provided free care to Boston's needy. In the fall of 1997, the Talbot brought together all departments of the Boston University School of Public Health in one building for the first time in 20 years.

ABOUT THE CROSTOWN BUILDING:

As a result of continued expansion, SPH outgrew the Talbot Building within a few years of having moved in. By 2007, SPH was spread out among six buildings. In December 2007, SPH moved six groups, comprising nearly 50% of the faculty and staff, into leased space in the newly constructed Crosstown Center. This modern space was intentionally built out with an "open" design to foster interdisciplinary collaboration among the various groups. In addition to SPH, Crosstown Center also houses several BUMC classrooms, the Office of Information Technology, Human Resources, the Women's Health Initiative and Business Systems.

OVERVIEW OF SPH DEGREE PROGRAMS AND ACADEMIC POLICIES

MASTER OF PUBLIC HEALTH DEGREE

The Boston University School of Public Health (BUSPH) offers a Master of Public Health degree in eight concentrations: Biostatistics; Environmental Health; Epidemiology; Health Law, Bioethics & Human Rights; Health Policy and Management; International Health; Maternal and Child Health; and Social & Behavioral Science. Most students may complete their study on a full time (12 to 18 credits per semester) or part time (1-11 credits per semester) basis; international, non-resident students must follow the requirements of the International Students and Scholars Office (ISSO) pertaining to their registration status.

Students are strongly advised to obtain and read the School of Public Health 2013-2014 Bulletin and their concentration's "Concentrator Guide". Concentrator guides are published by each concentration annually; students must meet the requirements set forth in the guide for the year in which they matriculate or change into a specific concentration or concentrations. Please note that students who change concentration (see changing concentration, p.35) must meet the requirements of the concentration at the time they change their concentration. Concentration requirements worksheets are available at <http://sph.bu.edu/RegistrarsSub-Pages/mpg-graduation-audit-sheets/menu-id-50631.html>. Students and their faculty advisors are encouraged to track student progress using Degree Advice, an online function available on the Student Link under the "Academics" tab. This tool interacts in real time with students grades, program, and registration.

Students should meet with their faculty academic advisors to plan their course of study well in advance of the registration period each semester. For more information, please see the "Registration Section" p. 40-42.

MPH Requirements for Students Matriculating in Academic Year 2013/2014

- Completion of 48 graduate-level credit units numbered SPH XX 700 and above
- Completion of at least 40 of these credit units within the Boston University School of Public Health
- Completion of six core courses with a grade of B- or better in each core course
- Completion of concentration requirements
- Completion of a public health practicum according to guidelines
- Completion of a culminating experience according to guidelines
- A School of Public Health grade point average of 3.0 or better
- Completion of the MPH within five years

Changing Master of Public Health Concentration

Once students have matriculated into the MPH program, they may request to change their concentration or add a dual concentration by submitting a "Change of Concentration Form" to the SPH Registrar's Office. Change of Concentration forms are available on the SPH website and on the shelves outside the Office of the Registrar.

Completed Change of Concentration Form applications include:

- A one-page statement indicating the reason for changing concentration.
- A tentative schedule outlining how the student will satisfy the concentration requirements by the student's anticipated/desired graduation date. This schedule should include BUSPH courses taken to date and any approved transfer credits.
- Review and signature by the designated faculty member in the concentration to be added. If the student wishes to add a dual concentration, he/she must have the form reviewed and signed by the designated faculty member in both concentrations.

Faculty may review the student's academic record prior to approving the change or addition. The student is responsible for obtaining and reviewing the bulletin and concentrator's guide(s) so he/she is prepared to meet the graduation standards in place at the time of the change to the new concentration. It is possible that changing concentration or adding a dual concentration will result in the student's having to complete more than 48 credits for the MPH degree.

SPH Academic Policies

This handbook publishes the three major policies for students at the School of Public Health: grading, academic honesty, and transfer credit, along with leave of absence and exam scheduling policies, among others. This handbook also includes major Boston University policies that apply to students at all schools and colleges, including the School of Public Health.

All university-wide and school policies are printed in the 2013-2014 SPH Bulletin, which is available online at <http://www.bu.edu/bulletins>. Please familiarize yourself with the policies, and contact the staff in the Registrar's Office at the School of Public Health if you have any questions.

SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH GRADING POLICY

Most credit-bearing courses at Boston University School of Public Health (SPH) are graded on an A–F scale, or notated with the special symbols described below.

Letter Grade	Honor Points	Explanation
A	4.0
A-	3.7
B+	3.3
B	3.0
B-	2.7
C+	2.3
C	2.0
C-	1.7
D	1.0
F	0.0	Fail, no credit
P	Not applicable	Pass
AU	Not applicable	Audit, no credit
I	Not applicable	Incomplete
MG	Not applicable	Missing grade, grade not assigned
W	Not applicable	Withdrew from course after withdrawal deadline

All SPH candidates must maintain a minimum overall 3.0 GPA each semester as part of the criteria to maintain satisfactory academic progress (SAP). Students whose semester college GPA is below 3.0 and students whose GPA in core courses is below 2.75 will be subject to academic review.

All SPH candidates must have a minimum 3.0 GPA at SPH to graduate.

Calculating Grade Point Average (GPA)

- To compute the total honor points for a desired timeframe, multiply the credits per course by the honor points associated with the grade for a course (displayed in chart above). Sum the product for all courses in the desired timeframe.
- Divide the sum total by the number of credits attempted during that timeframe; the result is the grade point average (GPA) for the timeframe.

- The grades and credits of all courses are considered in the overall GPA.
- The following grade symbols are never associated with honor points and are therefore not used in the calculation of the GPA: AU, P, W, and MG.
- “T” (incomplete) grades are not computed in the GPA until all required work is completed and an appropriate letter grade assigned.

Satisfactory Academic Progress

In accordance with the Federal Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy 34 CFR 668.34, all School of Public Health degree candidates must maintain SAP during their studies. All degree candidates’ academic records will be reviewed at the end of each semester to ensure that they are making SAP. A student who fails to make SAP may be subject to academic action, including academic probation and dismissal. Further, students who fail to maintain SAP may not be eligible for federal financial aid. All students, regardless of financial aid status, will be held to the SAP standards.

Satisfactory Academic Progress includes:

- Achieving at least the minimum grade in courses with a minimum grade requirement
- Maintaining at least a 2.75 grade point average in core courses for the MPH and a 3.0 GPA in core courses in other degree programs, e.g., MS, doctoral
- Successfully completing at least 66% of course credits attempted each semester. Grades that are not considered a successful completion include: incomplete, missing grades, withdraws, and failing grades (F or below minimum)
- Resolving incomplete grades within the guidelines established in the SPH Grading Policy
- Making progress towards core, concentration, and degree requirements as outlined in the Bulletin
- Earning at least C- or above in all classes
- Successfully completing repeated classes
- Attaining an overall grade point average of 3.0 in order to be eligible for graduation

Academic Review

At the end of each semester, the grades of all SPH degree candidates will be reviewed against the criteria for Satisfactory Academic Progress by the SAP Committee. Students deemed at risk for failing to make SAP will be notified in writing, with a copy also sent to the academic advisor and student record. Such correspondence is not part of the permanent academic record unless the student is subsequently dismissed from SPH for academic reasons.

If deemed necessary by the Committee, a student deemed at risk of not making SAP will work with his or her academic advisor to devise a learning plan prior to registration for each upcoming semester. The learning plan should describe a semester-by-semester educational plan to make degree progress while improving the student's GPA. The plan must be signed by the student and his or her academic advisor and be submitted to the SPH registrar. Once a student is deemed at risk, they must exhibit SAP each semester. SAP is defined as steady upward progress toward a 3.0 GPA, completing all courses with required minimum grades, and adhering to the learning plan, as established, unless all parties agree to changes. Any student who continues to fail to make progress in subsequent semesters will be placed on warning. This information is forwarded to financial aid. Any student on warning who again fails to make SAP in the following semester will be placed on academic probation. OSFS may determine that these students are no longer eligible for federal financial aid. The SAP Committee will take appropriate academic action for students on academic probation, including suspension or dismissal. Should a student be suspended, he or she may not make progress toward degree requirements during the period of academic suspension. SPH will not accept transfer credit for courses taken by a suspended SPH student at another school within Boston University or another academic institution during the student's period of suspension.

Below Minimum GPA at the End of the Degree Program

If a student does not attain a 3.0 GPA after he or she has met all other graduation requirements of his or her degree program, then the student is not eligible to graduate. In this case, the student may register for 8 or fewer additional credits of coursework in order to raise his or her GPA to the minimum 3.0 standard. If it is not mathematically possible for a student to increase his or her GPA to 3.0 by earning an "A" grade in up to 8 additional credits, the student will be dismissed from SPH without possibility of reinstatement. If the student could mathematically achieve a 3.0 GPA by registering for less than 8 additional credits, the following guidelines apply:

- The additional credits must be graduate-level SPH courses and cannot include a practicum or a course outside of SPH.
- The credits must be attempted beginning the next semester of registration available after the failed graduation.
- If a student attempts 8 additional credits and does not attain a GPA of 3.0, he or she will be dismissed from SPH without possibility of reinstatement.

Minimum Grade Requirements

Although the grade range for courses is A–F, students earn no academic credit for an "F" grade. Some SPH degree programs have specific courses with higher minimum grade requirements. Students registered in these courses do not earn degree credit for courses if they attain lower than the minimum grade. These courses are:

Master of Public Health Degrees

- Master of Public Health (MPH) students must earn a B- or better in the core courses for the MPH degree. Students may select only one course from each concentration as the core course. The MPH core courses are BS 704, EH 717, EP 713, IH 704, IH 720, LW 719, LW 751, PM 702, and SB 721. The following courses are considered curricular equivalents: IH 704 and PM 702; IH 720 and SB 721; LW 719 and LW 751.
- MPH biostatistics concentrators must earn a B or better in BS 723.
- MPH environmental health concentrators must earn a B- or better in EH 725 and EH 768.

Master of Science Degrees

- Master of Science in Environmental Health students must earn a B or better in BS 723, EH 710, EH 725, EH 768, EH 804, and EP 713.
- Master of Science in Epidemiology students must earn a B or better in BS 704, BS 723, EP 713, and EP 813.
- Master of Science in Health Services Research students must earn a B or better in BS 704, EP 713, PM 811, PM 814, PM 821, and either PM 826, PM 833, PM 842, CAS EC 581, or SED CT 750.

Doctoral Degrees

- Doctor of Philosophy in Environmental Health students must earn a B or better in BS 723, EH 710, EH 725, EH 768, EH 804, EH 805, and EP 713.
- Doctor of Philosophy in Health Services Research students must earn a B or better in BS 704, EP 713, EP 813, LW 751, PM 811, PM 814, PM 821, PM 824, PM 842, and PM 826.
- Doctor of Public Health (DrPH) students must earn a B or better in PH 851, 852, 853, 854, 856, 857, and 858.

Improving a Grade in a Course with a Minimum Grade Requirement

All faculty teaching a course with a minimum grade requirement may, at their discretion, give students who fail to attain the minimum grade at least one opportunity to improve their final course grade by revising a component of the grade as determined by the instructor. Faculty must enter the initial, below-minimum grade on the Faculty Link. Revised grades are processed via a paper grade change form submitted to the SPH registrar by the faculty member. The revised course grade cannot be higher than the minimum required grade.

The course instructor's grade change policy must be explicitly stated in the course syllabus at the beginning of the semester. If a faculty member designates a mechanism to improve a grade in a course with a minimum grade requirement, a student must express his or her intention to improve the course grade within two weeks after the course grade is entered, and must submit the specified work before the start of the next academic semester. Exceptions to the two-week notification policy are granted only in extraordinary circumstances and can be approved only by the associate dean for education.

Repeating a Class Due to Failure to Attain the Minimum Grade Requirement

Students who do not meet a minimum grade requirement must register for the course, or its curricular equivalent, for a second time in the next semester the course is offered. For the purposes of this policy, the term "repeat" the class is used. Students may earn a grade higher than the minimum grade in a repeated course—they are eligible to be graded with the whole range of grades described above.

In all cases, a student must repeat the course in which he or she did not attain the minimum grade no later than one year from the initial registration, unless they are given specific written permission from the Associate Dean For Education to exceed this timeframe. Students who do not repeat the course within one year and do not seek permission to do so may be subject to academic dismissal.

The option to improve a grade is not available in courses that do not have a minimum grade requirement. Students may not repeat such a course or its curricular equivalent. Should a student repeat the course or its curricular equivalent, the credits and grade associated with the second registration will not count toward degree requirements or the required GPA.

Conditions and Consequences of Repeating a Course

Grades for every course in which a student registers, including repeated courses, will appear on the student's transcript. The credits from courses in which the student fails to achieve the minimum grade are not counted toward the credit requirement for graduation, although the grade is factored into the overall grade point average.

A student may not use institutional aid, SPH scholarship, or merit funds to pay for courses they are retaking in order to meet the minimum grade requirement. They may, however, use federal financial aid, such as loans. Students repeating courses are strongly encouraged to contact the Student Financial Services Office to verify their financial aid prior to the start of the semester.

Failure to Meet the Minimum Required Grade in a Repeated Class

A student will be subject to dismissal from Boston University if he or she does not achieve the minimum grade in a repeated course or its curricular equivalent. The student may petition the associate dean for education to repeat the course or its curricular equivalent. If the petition is rejected, the student will be dismissed from SPH. If the petition is granted and the student again does not achieve the minimum grade, the student will be dismissed with no option to appeal.

Failure to Meet the Minimum Required Grade in Multiple Courses

No student will be permitted to repeat more than two courses that have a minimum grade requirement during their tenure at SPH. A student who fails to achieve a minimum grade in three courses that have a minimum grade requirement will be subject to dismissal from SPH. A student who wishes to appeal his or her dismissal may do so by petitioning the associate dean for education in writing. The student should provide evidence of any extenuating circumstances to the associate dean, whose decision will be final.

Incomplete Grades

A student may request an incomplete grade if a course has met for at least 75 percent of its course meetings and has not yet met for the last time. An incomplete grade is a transitional grade that is granted when a student cannot complete course requirements on time due to serious extenuating circumstances for which the student is not responsible. Examples of such extenuating circumstances include serious illness of the student, military service, extended jury duty, or death of a family member. A student may be required to provide proof of the circumstances, such as a note from a physician.

Conditions for Approving a Request for an Incomplete Grade

Except in cases of severe extenuating circumstances, a student may not request an incomplete grade when the “drop without a ‘W’ grade” or the “drop with a ‘W’ grade” options are available for the course in question. The drop dates for standard, full-semester courses are on the SPH Academic Calendar. The dates for non-standard courses are customized and viewable on the Boston University Course Schedule.

An incomplete grade may be granted on the condition that the student will complete the coursework on his or her own and within a specific and mutually agreed-upon timeframe. In no case can that timeframe exceed more than four weeks into the next academic semester. The completion period for the incomplete course does not necessarily apply to SPH IH 777, directed studies, directed research, or MPH practicum courses. These courses may be graded with an “I” grade at the discretion of the instructor, and the “I” grade in this case may extend past the first four weeks of the next academic semester. Instructors may reserve the right, however, to set a timeframe for completion of the work. The maximum timeframe in all cases and for all students is one year from the assignment of the “I” grade.

Faculty may not grant an incomplete grade as an alternative to submitting a poor or failing grade. In the event that a student does not complete coursework or make a timely request for an incomplete grade, the instructor must assign a grade based on the work the student has submitted to date in the course.

If the incomplete coursework is not completed by the required completion date, a final grade of “F” will be entered by the registrar. The only exception to the “F” grade being entered is made if the student successfully presents evidence to the associate dean for education that further time is warranted. The evidence must be presented prior to the required completion date.

Dispute Resolution Process

A concern or complaint from a SPH student should be directed to the persons whose actions or inactions have given rise to the concern or complaint. Whenever possible, every effort should be made to resolve the problem promptly at the level at which it occurred. The student may pursue the issue within the normal reporting structure of the academic or administrative department at SPH. If a student feels he or she has been unfairly treated by an instructor or teaching assistant of a SPH course, the student should contact the chair (or his/her designee) of the department in which course is taught. If the chair is the instructor, the student should seek assistance from the associate dean for education. Should the student need additional assistance, he or she may also see staff in the Boston University Ombudsman Office, located at 19 Deerfield Street.

Grievance Process

When a student has reason to believe that his or her rights have been denied by reason of discrimination on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, ethnic origin, age, sex, disability, sexual orientation, or other unlawful bias, he or she may file a formal written grievance with the dean of the School of Public Health, Talbot 3 Center, 715 Albany Street, or the dean of students of Boston University, 775 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, MA 02215. The grievance statement should be as specific as possible regarding the action(s) that precipitated the grievance: date, place, and people involved; efforts made to settle the matter informally; and the remedy sought. Full copies of the “Grievance Procedures in Cases of Alleged Discrimination” are available at the SPH Office for Student Services, Talbot 2 Center, or at the Office of the Vice President and Dean of Students, Boston University, 775 Commonwealth Avenue, Third Floor, Boston, MA 02215.

If a student’s grievance alleges discrimination based on disability, the director of the Disability Services Office, who is the University’s compliance officer for Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, will also be provided with a copy of the grievance and will be involved in resolution of the grievance, as appropriate.

Courses with Minimum Grades

The policy applies to students who change degree programs or who are accepted after Spring 2011. It will also state that faculty must determine if they will allow students who fail to attain the minimum grade at least one opportunity to improve their final course grade by revising a component of the grade as determined by the instructor.

Standards of Academic Policy and Disciplinary Procedures

The School of Public Health’s “Standards of Academic Honesty and Disciplinary Procedures” honesty is the cornerstone of the educational mission at the School of Public Health. It is crucial that students read and understand the definition of academic honesty. Sometimes students are familiar with School of Public Health and University definitions and policies pertaining to plagiarism and academic honesty, and this may lead to difficult situations. Students who are unsure about this policy are urged to speak with a staff member in Student Services.

1. Rationale

Students in the School of Public Health are expected to adhere to the highest standards of academic honesty. Academic honesty is essential for students to attain the competencies the School expects of its graduates and to enable the faculty to adequately assess student performance. Any action by a student that subverts these goals seriously undermines the integrity of the educational programs of the School. This document addresses actions that may be taken by the School against students who commit academic misconduct.

2. Definition of Academic Misconduct

Academic misconduct is any intentional act by a student that misrepresents his or her academic achievements, or any attempt to misrepresent his or her academic achievements. The following acts constitute academic misconduct. This is not an exhaustive list.

a) Cheating on examinations:

The use or attempted use of any unauthorized books, notes or other materials in order to enhance the student's performance in the examination, copying or attempting to copy from another student's examination, permitting another student to copy from an examination or otherwise assisting another student during an examination, or any other violation of the examination's stated or commonly understood ground rules.

b) Plagiarism:

Any representation of the work of another as one's own constitutes plagiarism. This includes copying or substantially restating the work of another person without the use of quotation marks or other indication that the words of another have been copied, the use of any written or oral work from which the student has obtained ideas or data without citing the source, or collaborating with another person in an academic endeavor without acknowledging that person's contribution.

c) Submitting the same work in more than one course without the consent of all the instructors

d) Misrepresentation or falsification of data

e) Allowing another student to represent your work as his or her own

f) Violating the rules of an examination or assignment

3. Procedures

a) Initiation of Charge:

If a faculty member suspects that a student in his or her class has committed an act of academic misconduct, the faculty member will meet with the student to inform them of the concern and to obtain the student's response. Based on this meeting the faculty member will make determination about whether or not to forward the case to the Associate Dean for Education, for further review.

Any student, staff, or faculty member who has reason to believe that a student has committed an act of academic misconduct may bring this matter to the attention of the Associate Dean for Education. The Associate Dean for Education will review the allegation and the information on which it is based, and will determine whether to proceed with an investigation of the charge.

b) Investigation of Charge:

The Associate Dean for Education will review the information related to the charge and may interview witnesses. If the Associate Dean for Education concludes that there is evidence of academic misconduct, s/he will notify the student in writing that the student is charged with academic misconduct and must meet with the Associate Dean for Education and the Registrar of the School of Public Health. In this notice, the Associate Dean for Education will advise the student that he or she may be accompanied to this meeting by a faculty advisor. At this meeting the student will be informed of the evidence that appears to support the charge of misconduct. The student will be given an opportunity to rebut the charges and to provide evidence in his or her defense. At this meeting, the Associate Dean for Education will typically determine whether or not academic misconduct occurred, and decide upon a sanction or sanctions, as specified below. If the Associate Dean for Education recuses herself or himself from the case, then the case is referred directly to the Faculty/Student Committee.

c) Sanctions:

A student who is found guilty of academic misconduct is subject to any of the following sanctions:

- Expulsion from the School.
- Suspension from the School for a specified period of time.
- Denial of credit for the course in which the misconduct took place, or grade, or honors, or denial of a degree; imposition of a failing grade in a course; revocation and withdrawal of credit, grade, honors or a degree previously credited, awarded or conferred.
- Disciplinary probation. Disciplinary probation may involve counseling with faculty or staff; restrictions of student privileges; prohibition in participation on School or University activities or events; prohibitions against holding office in or participation in student or School organizations and activities.
- Instruction to faculty to give a zero grade on the assignment in question.
- Instruction to faculty to provide a written summary of the charge to the SPH Registrar in a sealed envelope. This envelope will be placed in the student's academic file. Should another incident of academic dishonesty occur with the same student, the first envelope will be opened and the information within considered with the new information. In this instance, documentation from both incidents will remain open and in the student's file.
- Letter of warning, to be placed in the student's file.

If the Associate Dean for Education imposes a sanction, such sanction will be stayed pending the result of a hearing before a Faculty/ Student Committee or an appeal to the Dean unless, in the judgment of the Associate Dean for Education, the health, safety or welfare of the School or the preservation of academic integrity requires the immediate imposition of sanctions. Both the suspected student and the individual who initiated the charge of academic misconduct shall be notified of the decision of the Associate Dean for Education in writing.

4. Appeal

If the Associate Dean for Education determines that the student has committed academic misconduct, the student may appeal for a hearing by the Faculty/Student Committee. The student's written request must specify the grounds for the appeal and whether s/he is appealing the finding of academic misconduct, the sanction or both. The request for a hearing must be submitted in writing to the Associate Dean for Education within ten (10) calendar days after notification of the Associate Dean for Education's decision via e-mail. Failure to submit a request for an appeal hearing within the ten (10)-day timeframe will constitute a waiver of such rights.

a) Appeal to a Faculty/Student Committee

If a student appeals the Associate Dean for Education's decision or sanctions, the appeal will be heard by a Faculty/Student committee. The committee shall be appointed by the Dean of the School of Public Health and be composed of two faculty members and one student. The Dean shall appoint one of the faculty members as the Chair of the Committee. The Associate Dean for Education will provide the student with written notice of the time and place of the hearing and of the student's right to be accompanied to hearing by an advisor of his or her choice; however, except to the extent permitted by the Chair, the advisor may not participate directly in the hearing.

The Committee shall hold a hearing at which it will hear evidence regarding the charge of academic misconduct. The Associate Dean for Education will present the charges and the evidence to the Committee. The Registrar will attend and keep minutes of the appeal proceedings. The hearing will be recorded; however, the proceedings will not be invalidated by reason of a defective recording. The course instructor(s) will be present at the hearing if the Associate Dean for Education, the student, or the Committee requests such presence.

The accused student may provide evidence on his or her behalf. The Committee may ask questions of any person and request additional information or witnesses. The student shall normally be allowed, as deemed appropriate in the discretion of the chair, to ask questions of a witness present at the hearing. The Chair may limit or exclude testimony that is repetitive or irrelevant to determining the accused student's guilt or innocence. Inclusion or exclusion of evidence or testimony will not be determined by rules of evidence as used in courts. A student will be found guilty of academic misconduct if a majority of the Committee determines that the preponderance of the evidence supports a finding that the student has committed acts, which constitute academic misconduct.

The Committee will deliberate and will typically present its findings within five working days. If the Committee finds the student is not guilty of academic misconduct, the case shall be dismissed. If a student is found guilty of academic misconduct, the Committee shall determine a sanction. The sanction imposed by the Committee may be more lenient or more severe than the sanction imposed by the Associate Dean for Education. The decision and findings will be sent to the Associate Dean for Education in writing that will provide the student with a copy of the Committee's findings.

Except for good cause shown, failure of the student to appear at the Committee's hearing shall be deemed a withdrawal of a request for a hearing, and a waiver of any right to be heard by a Faculty/Student Committee.

b) Appeal to the Dean of the School of Public Health

A student who is found guilty of academic misconduct by a Faculty/Student Committee may appeal the finding and/or the sanction to the Dean, who may affirm, reverse, or increase the sanctions. The appeal must be in writing, set forth the grounds upon which the student believes the findings or sanctions should be reversed or modified, and be delivered to the Dean not more than ten (10) calendar days after receiving notice of findings and sanctions by the Faculty/Student Committee. The student must deliver a copy of the appeal to the Associate Dean for Education. The filing of an appeal with the Dean will not operate to stay the effect of the sanctions imposed. The appeal may request that the sanctions be stayed or modified pending determination of the appeal, and the Dean may act on such request at his or her discretion.

The Dean, or his or her designee, will review the record of the prior proceedings. The Dean's decision will be in writing and sent via e-mail to the student. Copies will be provided to the student, the Associate Dean for Education and the members of the Faculty/Student Committee.

The Dean, or his or her designee, may:

- 1) Affirm, modify or reverse the findings of guilt.
- 2) Affirm or modify the sanctions imposed. The severity of the sanctions may be increased or decreased.
- 3) Remand the matter to the Associate Dean for Education or the Faculty/Student Committee for additional investigation or a new hearing. If the case is remanded, the Dean must specify whether the sanctions will be maintained or modified pending the completion of the matter on remand.
- 4) Take such other action as the Dean deems appropriate.

c) Appeal to the Medical Campus Provost

A student who is found guilty of academic misconduct and who has already appealed to the Dean of the School of Public Health may further appeal the finding and/or the sanctions imposed by the Dean to the Medical Campus Provost. The appeal must be in writing, set forth the grounds upon which the student believes the findings or sanctions should be reversed or modified, and be delivered to the Provost not more than ten (10) calendar days after receiving the notice of findings and sanctions from the Dean. The student must also deliver a copy of the appeal to the Dean. Filing an appeal with the Provost will not operate to stay the effect of the sanctions imposed. The appeal may request that sanctions be stayed or modified pending determination of the appeal, and the Provost may act on such request at his or her discretion.

5. Records

A sanction imposed as a result of a finding of academic misconduct will be entered on the student's permanent record, unless this provision is waived by the Associate Dean for Education or the Dean of the School of Public Health. If a student is found to be not guilty of academic misconduct, no record will be made of the charge in the student's permanent record.

If a student withdraws from the School while charges against him or her are pending, or as part of a negotiated settlement of such charges, this fact will be communicated to the Registrar and the student will not be allowed to re-enroll unless s/he presents evidence that permission for re-enrollment has been granted by the Associate Dean for Education. If the student withdrew while charges were pending, permission for re-enrollment will be granted only after the charges have been resolved. The School may continue the process of investigating and resolving charges of academic misconduct made against a student even if a student withdraws from the School while the charges of academic misconduct are pending.

6. Violations by Students Not Enrolled in a School of Public Health Degree Program

These policies apply to students who are enrolled in another School or College within Boston University, who are enrolled at another School or College outside the University, or who are non-degree students charged with academic misconduct in regard to academic work performed in the School of Public Health.

If such a student is found guilty of academic misconduct, in addition to any sanctions that may be imposed, such a student may be prohibited from taking additional courses at the School of Public Health, and any findings of academic misconduct will be reported to the School at which the student is enrolled.

7. Applicability of other codes of Conduct

Students at the School are also subject to the University's Code of Student Responsibilities which is administered by the University's Dean of Students. These documents does not in any way limit or supersede that Code or the jurisdiction of the University's Dean of Students, nor does it limit the ability of any other School or College in which a student of the School of Public Health may be enrolled to institute proceedings pursuant to its own disciplinary code.

Transfer Credit and Course Waiver Policy

Within specific guidelines, students in the MPH degree program may apply for transfer credit for any graduate-level courses taken outside of the School of Public Health that the student would like to apply to his or her SPH degree program. This includes all courses taken at other schools within Boston University and through the Academic Consortium. All requests for transfer credit will be considered on an individual basis by the appropriate department chairperson or departmental designee and must be approved additionally by the SPH Registrar. Grades assigned to transfer credits will not be included in the calculation of the student's GPA at the School of Public Health.

Students in other degree programs (MS, PhD, or DrPH) should check with their program director regarding transfer credit policies for their specific degree program. MPH dual degree students are not eligible for transfer credit.

A completed Request for Transfer Credit or Course Waiver form must accompany each request along with a course description, syllabus, reading list, official transcript, and any other materials requested by the department designee or the SPH Registrar. The Request for Transfer Credit or Course Waiver forms may be obtained from the bookcase outside the SPH Registrar's Office, Talbot 210C, and on the School of Public Health website. There are a small number of courses that are preapproved for transfer credit; they can be viewed here. Students must submit a transfer credit request for these classes but do not have to submit the additional documents (syllabus, reading list, transcript).

General Requirements for Transfer Credit

Current MPH students must have all courses preapproved through the SPH Registrar's Office. Students are advised that academic credits for courses taken at other schools and colleges, including Boston Consortium schools, may not transfer at the same numeric value as they are offered at the host school. BUSPH credits are calculated at 10 contact hours per credit, where contact hours are hours of direct instruction in the classroom. There is no rounding up of contact hours.

As part of the preapproval process, students are informed of the number of credits they may be awarded; therefore, it is vital that the student apply for preapproval.

All courses for anticipated transfer credit must meet the following criteria:

- Courses must be officially documented as graduate-level courses.
- Transfer credit is contingent upon completion of the course with a B (3.0) or better. Official transcripts documenting the final grade(s) must be sent to the SPH Office of the Registrar.
- Courses cannot have been used in the past or be used in the future towards another degree or certificate program.
- Courses must be taken at an accredited U.S. institution.
- Courses must have significant, direct public health content. For example, foreign language courses would not be considered for transfer credit for the MPH degree, nor would an organic chemistry course.
- Hybrid courses will not be considered for transfer credit or waiver.

Courses taken prior to matriculation must meet the above criteria, must have been taken within the past five (5) years, and must not have been used towards the completion of another degree program.

General Requirements for Course Waiver

Current MPH students may petition to be waived from core course or concentration requirements based on previous coursework. Relevant courses must have been taken within the past five years. Students must have earned a grade of B (3.0) or better in the classes in question. Students must complete a "Request for Transfer Credit/Course Waiver Form" and provide the requested documentation with the form to the SPH Office of the Registrar. Students may be asked to demonstrate their proficiency in the courses to be waived. The decision to grant a waiver is at the discretion of the department representative. Such waivers will not reduce the overall number of course credits to be taken in the School of Public Health (48 credits for the MPH degree). Requests for waivers should be forwarded to the SPH Registrar's Office.

Maximum Transfer Credits Allowed

MPH students may petition to have a maximum of eight required credits transferred to meet MPH degree requirements. MPH dual degree candidates may not apply for transfer credit. Transfer credit includes courses taken at Boston University schools or colleges that are not the home schools of the dual degree program. The eight-credit maximum does not apply to students who graduated from Boston University with a BA or BS.

Online Courses

Online, graduate-level courses from CEPH-accredited schools and programs will be considered for transfer credit or waiver according to the general requirements stated above. Should those requirements be met, the credit for the online course will be calculated as a percent of the total credits for the MPH degree program at the home school. For example, an online course granted 3 credits within a 55-credit program would be 5 percent of the total program. Five percent of the MPH program at BU equates to 2 credits; therefore this class would be awarded 2 BUSPH credits. There is no rounding up.

Students will be considered for core course waivers should the online course align with the required MPH core course at BUSPH. For international health concentrators or students studying on an F-1 or J-1 visa, courses that are similar to the international health core courses in Health Policy & Management and Social & Behavioral Sciences will be considered. Students requesting waivers from concentration requirements through online coursework should speak to their department representative or chair.

Students Who Completed BUSPH Credit During Their Undergraduate Years

Students matriculating to the SPH who completed Boston University SPH graduate-level courses during their undergraduate years may seek to apply the credits to the MPH degree requirements. Students who are not part of an approved dual degree program must obtain a letter from their undergraduate school or college verifying that the credits were not counted towards the bachelor's degree major or minor. The credits may not be double counted towards the bachelor's degree major or minor and the MPH degree.

In all cases (single bachelor's degree, minor, or 4+1 degree program students), a maximum of 16 credits of graduate coursework taken during the undergraduate years may be counted towards the MPH. Established SPH minimum grade policies apply.

Other BU undergraduate courses that are automatic waivers for MPH core courses:

- 1) Students who attain a grade of B or higher in both CAS MA 115 AND CAS MA 116 or CAS MA 684 will have fulfilled the MPH Biostatistics requirement. Students who attain a grade of B or higher in SAR HP 353 will have fulfilled the Health Policy and Management core course requirement for non-Health Policy and Management and non-International Health students. Students who plan to concentrate in Health Policy and Management or International Health must enroll in SPH PM 702 or SPH IH 704, respectively.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE OR WITHDRAWALS

A degree candidate in good standing may request up to two semesters of leave of absence from the School of Public Health by completing a “Request for Leave of Absence Form” prior to the official start of the semester in which he or she wishes to take the leave of absence. “Request for a Leave of Absence or Withdrawal” forms are available on the shelves outside the Registrar’s Office on Talbot 210 Center and on the School of Public Health website at <http://sph.bu.edu/registrar/forms>.

To avoid academic and financial penalties, students must withdraw prior to the first day of the upcoming academic semester by completing a Request for a Leave of Absence or Withdrawal. If the School of Public Health Registrar does not receive a registered student’s request to take a leave of absence or to withdraw from the program prior to the start of the semester, the student will be liable for tuition and fees for registered courses based upon University policy. Students receiving tuition remission benefits from Boston University should contact their benefits representative for information should they seek to withdraw or file a Leave of Absence in addition to contacting the SPH Registrar’s Office. Degree candidates who fail to register for two consecutive fall and spring semesters without receiving approval from the SPH Registrar will be administratively withdrawn. Lack of registration does not constitute an official leave of absence or withdrawal.

If requesting a Leave of Absence, the request should include a reason for requesting the leave, the anticipated date of return to the degree program, the student’s name, address, Boston University identification number, and department(s) of concentration. Leaves of absence due to medical reasons are handled according to the procedures below. Students who are not able to continue in their degree program due to relocation, ongoing academic difficulty, or other personal circumstances may voluntarily withdraw from Boston University.

Leaves of Absence for Medical Reasons

Sometimes a student may need to interrupt his or her studies for medical reasons. The University can assist a student who is deciding whether to take a medical leave and advise him or her about the steps necessary for a successful return. A student’s request for a leave of absence for medical reasons must be reviewed by Student Health Services or its designee. Boston University also reserves the right to require an involuntary medical leave of absence if it determines that a student’s continued enrollment would create a significant risk to the health and safety of the student or others.

A student seeking to re-enroll after a medical leave must demonstrate to the University that the student’s health permits the successful completion of studies. Documentation needed to support this finding will be determined by Student Health Services or its designee, but will generally include information from the student’s clinician as well as an assessment by Student Health Services or its designee. The decision whether to permit a student to re-enroll is within the sole discretion of the University.

OTHER COURSE POLICIES

Exam Schedule Policy

Students who have three exams scheduled on any one exam day may have that exam which falls in between the other two rescheduled to another exam day. This arrangement for rescheduling should be coordinated between the instructor and the student. Feel free to contact the Registrar (617-638-4963) or the Director of Student Services (617-638-5059) if you have any questions about this policy.

Policy on Timely Completion of Course Requirements

All students are required to take examinations on the day they are scheduled and to hand in assignments no later than the due date. Syllabi should indicate examination dates and project (which includes papers) due dates, and penalties associated with late submissions of assignments. If a student cannot take an exam or submit a paper or project on time, the student must request an alternate date in writing from the faculty member. The request for extensions should only be approved if the student has encountered a serious problem that arose unexpectedly and that will make it impossible or extremely burdensome for the student to take the exam or fulfill the assignment requirements as scheduled. In such a circumstance faculty may grant a request for an alternate exam or due date. Substitute examinations should ordinarily be scheduled as soon as possible after the scheduled exam date. Students should be warned that if they request a delay in taking a final exam or in completing a final assignment that the stipulations in the SPH Grading Policy must be followed.

It is the student's obligation to request an extension prior to the time of the exam or date an assignment is due. Only in circumstances when it would be impossible or extraordinarily burdensome for a student to make the request prior to the scheduled date may the faculty member consider a request for an extension of time after the date of the exam or assignment due date.

Faculty may require a student to provide documentation of the circumstances the student submits as the reason for granting an alternative exam or due date, such as a note from a physician.

A student's failure to adhere to this policy may result in a failing grade being granted for the exam or paper.

Disputes between faculty and students arising out of this policy will be decided by the Associate Dean for Education.

Policy on Course Requirements that Require Student Attendance Outside of Scheduled Class Time

At times faculty may wish to require an assignment that requires students to attend sessions outside ordinary class time. For example, a faculty member teaching a summer course may wish to administer an exam outside class time in order to devote all scheduled class time to teaching and learning activities, or a faculty member may require field trips that occur at a place and time that differs from that of the scheduled class.

If the additional requirement will necessitate additional sessions of classes held at the school, they must be scheduled with the Office of the Registrar and the Student Services at the time the semester schedule is submitted to the Registrar's Office. The information will be included in the scheduling materials so that students are aware of all course requirements prior to registration.

Additionally, all such extra-class requirements must be included in course syllabi so that students can be aware of the requirements and plan accordingly. Faculty are responsible for keeping their syllabi up-to-date and to post them so that all students, both in the course and those considering taking the course, can have access to them.

Changing Master of Public Health Concentration

Once students have matriculated into the MPH program, they may request to change their concentration or add a dual concentration by submitting a "Change of Concentration Form" to the SPH Registrar's Office. Change of Concentration forms are available on the SPH website and on the shelves outside the Office of the Registrar.

Completed Change of Concentration Form applications include:

- A one-page statement indicating the reason for changing concentration.
- A tentative schedule outlining how the student will satisfy the concentration requirements by the student's anticipated/desired graduation date. This schedule should include BUSPH courses taken to date and any approved transfer credits.
- Review and signature by the designated faculty member in the concentration to be added. If the student wishes to add a dual concentration, he/she must have the form reviewed and signed by the designated faculty member in both concentrations.

Faculty may review the student's academic record prior to approving the change or addition. The student is responsible for obtaining and reviewing the bulletin and concentrator's guide(s) so he/she is prepared to meet the graduation standards in place at the time of the change to the new concentration. It is possible that changing concentration or adding a dual concentration will result in the student's having to complete more than 48 credits for the MPH degree.

Degree Programs at the School of Public Health

MPH DUAL DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

Dual degree programs are specially approved programs that allow students to earn two degrees within a specific timeframe and structure, allowing for a savings of credits when compared with the two degrees completed sequentially. The following graduate dual degree programs are approved for Boston University School of Public Health:

Law and Public Health (JD/MPH)
Health Care Management (MBA/MPH)
Global Health Management (MBA/MPH)
Medicine and Public Health (MD/MPH)
Medical Sciences and Public Health (MA/MPH)
Social Work and Public Health (MSW/MPH)

The MBA/MPH, MA/MPH, and MD/MPH programs are simultaneous degree programs, meaning the students are awarded the degrees together regardless of when the requirements for one degree may be completed. The JD/MPH and MSW/MPH allow for sequential completion of the degree; students virtually always earn the MPH degree as the second degree in the dual program.

All MPH dual degree students must complete the MPH core course requirements, the MPH concentration requirements, the MPH practicum, and the culminating experience specific to their concentration. No dual degree program allows a student to earn an MPH with fewer than 32 credits in residence at the School of Public Health. Dual degree candidates are not eligible to count transfer credit towards their degrees, nor may they enroll in classes outside of their home schools at Boston University. For more detail, please see the 2013-2014 Bulletin.

In practice, participating in a dual degree program limits the elective courses that dual-degree students may take if they wish to complete the minimum number of credits allotted to the dual degree. It also makes it very difficult for a dual-degree student to complete an MPH dual concentration within the minimum allotted credits.

The dual degree programs are described in the SPH Bulletin, <http://www.bu.edu/bulletins>.

OTHER PROGRAMS AT SPH

MPH 4+1 Degree Programs

The School of Public Health also offers two 4+1, Bachelor's-Master's degree programs, the BA/MPH program offered jointly with the College of Arts and Sciences and the BS/MPH Program offered jointly with Sargent College of Health and Rehabilitation Sciences (Sargent College). Students complete all degree requirements for the (128-credit) Bachelor's degree and all requirements for the (48-credit) MPH that a single degree MPH student would complete for his or her concentration. Up to a maximum of sixteen credits of graduate level School of Public Health coursework completed in the undergraduate study may be applied both as elective credit toward the Bachelor's degree and as credit toward fulfillment of the requirements for the MPH. There are specific requirements that must be completed during the undergraduate years, and these are described in detail in the 2013-2014 Bulletin.

Careful planning and full-time enrollment can result in students' receiving the MPH after a total of five years of study, rather than the usual minimum of five-and-a-half years. The Bachelor's degree is awarded at the completion of all BA requirements; the MPH is awarded once students have completed all MPH program requirements and requirements for one of the eight MPH concentrations.

Certificate Programs

MPH students may apply to the Pharmaceuticals Certificate Program in their first semester at SPH. This 12-credit graduate certificate is completed as part of the MPH program and may be completed by students in any MPH concentration. For more information, contact Program Director Chris Gill, cgill@bu.edu.

MPH, MS, and doctoral students at SPH or GRS may complete certificates in Statistical Genetics or Modern Biostatistics. For more information, contact Amanda Velez in the Department of Biostatistics at SPH, aavelez@bu.edu.

Master of Science Degrees

The School of Public Health offers the Master of Science degree in Environmental Health, Epidemiology, and Health Services Research. For more information, read the program information in the 2013-2014 bulletin. If you have questions or are interested in applying, please contact the Admissions Office at asksph@bu.edu.

Doctoral Degrees

The School of Public Health offers the Doctor of Philosophy degree in Biostatistics, Environmental Health, Epidemiology, and Health Services Research. It also offers the Doctor of Public Health degree.

For more information, read the program information in the 2013-2014 bulletin. If you have questions or are interested in applying, please contact the Admissions Office at asksph@bu.edu.

OTHER DEGREE PROGRAMS AT SPH (continued)

Master of Science candidates in Epidemiology and Health Services Research and all doctoral degree candidates must follow the graduation calendar. The calendar for 2013-2014 is as follows:

SPH Master of Science and Doctoral Degrees Graduation Calendar
Doctoral Candidates (DrPH/PhD)	Sept. 25, 2013 Award	Jan. 25, 2014 Award	May 19, 2014 Award
Graduation Application and Thesis/Dissertation Abstract* (submitted to the BUSPH Registrar and Doctoral Program Director)	At least 30 days prior to Final Oral Exam.	At least 30 days prior to Final Oral Exam.	At least 30 days prior to Final Oral Exam.
Last Date to hold Final Oral Exam	August 16, 2013	November 26, 2013	April 14, 2014
Deadline for Submission of Approved and Signed Thesis/Dissertation (2 copies due to Mugar Memorial Library)	September 11, 2013	December 16, 2013	May 2, 2014

Master of Arts In Biostatistics And PhD In Biostatistics

Students may pursue graduate study in biostatistics through the Biostatistics Program, jointly administered by the Department of Biostatistics of the School of Public Health and the Department of Mathematics and Statistics of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. The program offers students the opportunity not only to gain expertise in mathematical statistics but also to specialize in the epidemiologic, medical, and bioscientific applications of statistics. Students are required to take courses in both the Department of Mathematics/Statistics and the Department of Biostatistics. The program offers a Master of Arts (MA) in Biostatistics and a Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) in Biostatistics. Students may pursue these programs on a part or full-time basis, although they must complete their programs within a specified period as required by the Graduate School.

Admission to the MA and PhD programs in biostatistics is through the Graduate School of Arts & Sciences. For more information, call 617-638-5207.

SECTION II:

ACADEMIC PROCEDURES

ACADEMIC CALENDAR, 2013-2014

The School of Public Health defines its academic calendar and may not necessarily follow the calendar for the Boston University Charles River Campus, though every effort is made to do so. The Academic Calendar defines the start and end dates for the semester and the withdrawal schedule for the School, so it is crucial that School of Public Health students follow the School of Public Health Academic Calendar, not the general Boston University calendar.

The SPH Academic Calendar and class meeting dates for the semester are published on the School of Public Health web site and printed in the registration packets each semester. The Academic Calendars and important dates for the current year are included in Appendix A. Calendar information is subject to change. The School, in scheduling classes on some government and religious holidays, intends that students be given ample opportunity to make up work. Faculty members who wish to observe religious holidays will arrange for another faculty member to teach their class, or for the class to be rescheduled.

Registration

All SPH students register online via the Boston University Student Link, www.bu.edu/studentlink. Students are urged to meet with their advisor at least a month before registration begins to plan a schedule and to enter this schedule into the “Planner” function on the Student Link. The semester schedule is published online and on the Student Link, and in combination with the Course Rotation Guide and Degree Advice, gives students the information needed to meet their requirements. Students should make all concentration changes at least two weeks before the registration date at a minimum.

Students submit the Planner to register on the date specified as the start of the registration period for graduate students for a specific semester. Students are strongly encouraged to register early in the day on the first day of registration. Students closed out of courses should submit an online wait list form, <http://sph.bu.edu/waitlistform>.

For classes requiring paper registration (all directed studies, directed research, and practicum), registration materials are available on the School of Public Health website at <http://sph.bu.edu/registrar/forms> and on the shelves outside the SPH Registrar’s Office on Talbot 2 Center. These classes do not have to be added the first day of registration. Students should plan to be in their desired full time or part time status, and have added all planned classes, including directed studies, directed research, or practicum courses, by the semester payment date.

Students in all degree programs must be registered in every Fall and Spring semester in which they are enrolled at the School of Public Health. MS and doctoral students completing a required thesis or dissertation must register for the appropriate continuing study course number in their degree program. International students must follow their visa requirements.

Registration Dates

The first day of continuing graduate student registration for upcoming semesters is as follows:

Spring 2014–October 30, 2013 at 7:00 AM
Summer 2014–early March 2014, to be announced
Fall 2014–early April 2014, to be announced

Dropping and Adding Courses

Students may adjust their registration by adding or dropping courses on the Student Link;

Any adjustments to course loads may increase or decrease the tuition due for the semester or add other charges, such as health insurance, to their accounts. Students must take responsibility for checking their account balance, which is available to them on the Student Link under the green “Money Matters” tab.

Students may not add courses via the Student Link after the first day of the semester; students who wish to add a course after its first meeting date must complete a paper add/drop form available on the SPH web site or on the shelves outside the SPH Registrar’s Office on Talbot 2, obtain the instructor’s signature, and submit the form to the Registrar’s Office. Students will not be financially penalized if they drop a class up to the “Drop without a ‘W’ Grade” for that class. Courses dropped after that time are subject to both academic and financial penalty for the student. Class-specific “Drop without a ‘W’” and “Drop with a ‘W’” deadlines are visible when students click the class meeting dates on the University Class Schedule published on the Student Link, www.bu.edu/studentlink.

The University Tuition Refund Schedule automatically goes into effect when a student withdraws (drops all of his/her courses for a given semester), as this means the student is withdrawing from the University. The Refund schedule is published in the semester registration packet and on the web site for the Office of the University Registrar, <http://www.bu.edu/reg/dates/withdrawal-and-tuition-refund-schedule/refund-schedule-spring-2013-2/>.

Enrollment Options

All degree candidates who are otherwise not required to be in a specific status may enroll as either full-time or part-time students. Domestic students may change their status as their circumstances dictate, bearing in mind that students must be registered for at least six new credits each semester to be eligible for federal financial aid or loan deferment of previous loans. International students are required to maintain full-time status except in their final semester, when they may request permission from the International Students and Scholars Office (ISSO) to be authorized for Reduced Course Load status.

Full-time status is a registration category assigned to students enrolled in 12-18 credit units per semester. Full-time students are assessed a flat tuition rate of $21,985.00 per semester for the 2013-2014 Academic Year, plus a $60 program fee and a $160 health and wellness fee each semester. Health insurance is assessed separately (see below).

Part-time status is a registration category assigned to students enrolled in 1-11.5 credit units per semester. The tuition rate is $ 1,374 per credit unit for the 2013-2014 Academic Year, plus $60 in fees. Part time students registered for nine credits or more at any time during the semester have health insurance automatically added to their students account.

Students who change status from part to full time or vice versa must notify the SPH Registrar's Office before the semester payment date so their status is correct.

After registering, students should verify their registration and account charges on the Boston University Student Link at www.bu.edu/studentlink. Course confirmations are not routinely sent, and student bills are sent once per semester. If changes are needed, students may add or drop courses prior to the beginning of the semester on the Student Link. Their bill will recalculate overnight as appropriate, and the updated charges may be viewed on the Student Link.

Students who have merit, department, or external scholarships must be certain that the scholarships are posted before the semester due date. Unless a student has an official sponsor and the sponsor is billed by third party billing, Student Accounting Services, Boston University, he or she is responsible for charges and subject to collections activity should the semester bill not be paid on time and in full.

Student Health Insurance

Students who are registered for nine or more credits at any time during the fall or spring semester are automatically assessed student health insurance on their accounts as per state law. All international students are assessed for health insurance. Students with other, appropriate U.S. based coverage may waive their student health insurance charges. Students must waive their health insurance only once per academic year. The waiver deadlines are established by Student Accounting Services and published on their web site, <http://www.bu.edu/studentaccountingservices>. Students must be careful in adjusting their schedules after the waiver deadlines.

Enrollment Verification

Students may process enrollment verifications from the "Personal" tab on the Student Link. If the verification is not acceptable, the Registrar's Office will produce a signed, sealed enrollment verification. Requests need to be made in writing; e-mails that include the student's name, BUID# and date of birth are acceptable also.

REGISTERING FOR COURSES AT UNIVERSITIES WITHIN THE ACADEMIC CONSORTIUM

All School of Public Health degree candidates are eligible to cross-register for one course per semester during Fall and Spring semesters at Tufts University, Boston College, Brandeis University, or Hebrew College. All students who wish to cross-register for a course within the consortium must be registered for at least one course at Boston University at the same time. Boston University will charge part-time students per credit. Full-time students will not pay any additional costs if, with the cross-registration, they remain registered for 12-18 credits.

Procedure

- Outgoing BUSPH students first obtain a Cross-Registration Petition from the School of Public Health Registrar's Office, Talbot Building (Second Floor) and obtain the signature of the SPH Registrar on the completed form.
- BUSPH students must also obtain a copy of the transfer credit form and simultaneously apply for transfer credit for the potential cross-registered course to be approved for their SPH degree program requirements. Many institutions have different means of computing course credits, and part of the approval process calculates the BU credit that will be granted upon successful (B or better) completion of the course.
- The BSUPH student follows the instructions of the host institution (Boston College, Brandeis University, Tufts University or Hebrew College) regarding registration. Ultimately, the host institution course instructor must sign the petition, and the BUSPH student must submit the form to the host institution's Registrar's Office for processing.
- Once registered at a host school, the BUSPH student brings a fully signed copy of the Cross-Registration Petition back to the BUSPH Office of the Registrar, along with a paper BUSPH add/drop form for processing at BUSPH. Students may not add or drop cross-registered courses via the Student Link.
- Students may not add or drop cross-registered courses via the Student Link, nor may they register directly with the Office of the University Registrar at 881 Commonwealth Avenue.
- Grades for the course will display on the student's BU transcript. A student must earn a B or better for the course to count toward the MPH requirement.

Boston University students who find it necessary to withdraw from the university while registered for a course at a consortium college or university will follow the tuition refund schedule appropriate for their school or college at Boston University.

Tip: Cross registration is a lengthy, paper-intensive process. Students are advised to have a back-up plan should the cross-registration plan not come to fruition. A back-up course at BUSPH that the student can easily drop without penalty should the cross registration work is highly advised.

TRANSCRIPTS

Unofficial Transcripts

Students may print an unofficial transcript from the Student Link. Grade reports are not produced or mailed to students.

Official Transcripts

Official transcripts are available only from the Boston University Office of the University Registrar at 881 Commonwealth Avenue. Students may obtain official transcripts by ordering them in writing via the mail, by going in person to the Office of the University Registrar, or by ordering them from the Student Link.

Tuition Remission and Reimbursement

Tuition Remission

Students who are full time employees of Boston University may be eligible for tuition remission. Students must follow the procedures outlined in the University's Tuition Remission policy, available on www.bu.edu/hr. Students are also encouraged to ask their supervisors for a copy of "Policy on Employees Taking Courses." The Office of Human Resources is the expert and the authority for all matters pertaining to tuition remission and should be contacted in terms of the policy, dates, and amounts. Employees who are also students must be very careful to remain in employee status during the semester they expect to receive tuition remission. If planning to resign, verify the exact date to do so with Suzette Levenson, Assistant Dean for Administration and Finance.

Tuition Reimbursement

Students who need to request tuition reimbursement from their employers after completion of courses should print an unofficial transcript and student account statement from the Student Link.

GRADUATION

Boston University holds an All-University Commencement Ceremony every May. Commencement 2014 weekend will be held May 16-18, 2014. September graduates are encouraged to participate in the May ceremony of their choice. January graduates may attend the ceremony held in May following their graduation. Details regarding the Ceremony are mailed to all potential attendees in March.

To qualify for graduation at the School of Public Health, a degree candidate must have completed the degree requirements, must have no outstanding debt to Boston University, have completed exit counseling, and have submitted an “Application for Graduation” to the SPH Registrar’s Office. Forms are online at <http://sph.bu.edu/gradapp>.

Regardless of whether or not you have completed your graduation requirements, you will not officially graduate from the University unless you apply to graduation.

January graduation	No later than end of November
May graduation	No later than February 14
September graduation	No later than July 7

Degree students are encouraged to track their progress to graduation by reviewing their concentrator or program guides, meeting with their advisor each semester, and reviewing Degree Advice online each semester. This online tool is available on the Student Link, and is a helpful tool.

All diplomas for September and January graduates are mailed. May graduates will receive their diploma at the SPH Ceremony should they elect to attend; otherwise the diplomas are mailed to the address specified on the Student Link.

SPH REGISTRAR FAQ'S

Why can't I see my class on Blackboard Learn?

Blackboard Learn is a web-based tool that many instructors choose to use to disseminate course information. Classes are not required to have a Blackboard learn page. Some Blackboard Learn courses require that you be registered for the course in order to log into the class' web page. Blackboard Learn is not your accurate and official course schedule. If you need to see your current schedule you must use the Student Link. If you are unable to access a Blackboard Learn page for a class that you are registered for, speak with the course instructor or teaching assistant.

What's the difference between Blackboard Learn and the Student Link?

Blackboard Learn is a course-specific online tool used for dissemination of course information and documents. This system does not accurately reflect scheduling information, and not all courses will have a Blackboard Learn website. The Student Link is a secure server site that allows students online access to their registration activity and student records, including official class schedules. The schedule you see on the Student Link is your current, official course schedule. If you are unable to access an existing Blackboard site for a class in which you are enrolled, you should contact your instructor for assistance.

Who is eligible for Web Registration?

Degree candidates may register for most of their courses online via the Student Link (www.bu.edu/studentlink). In order to do so, it is necessary that students are in good standing, have no balance due on their student account, and have a current Boston University e-mail address. Some dual degree candidates, notably JD/MPH and MD/MPH may not register online while they are primary at the non-SPH program. Non-degree students are not eligible for web registration. More information on the process of registration for non-degree students is available here: http://sph.bu.edu/registrar/nondegree_students.

When I look at my schedule on the StudentLink, why do I see ADD instead of REG next to some of my courses?

Both ADD and REG mean that you are registered for the course. REG means you registered yourself or were registered within the current enrollment reservations for a course. ADD means you were added to the course by the Registrar's Office.

If I don't attend a course, am I automatically withdrawn or dropped from the course?

Absence from class does not constitute an official withdrawal or dropped course. Students must take action (either dropping or withdrawing) to remove a class from their academic schedule. Students who receive federal financial aid must be sure that they maintain the correct number of credits to be eligible for this aid. They should verify their eligibility with the Office of Student Financial Services prior to dropping classes or withdrawing.

What is the difference between withdrawing and dropping?

Withdrawing means to officially drop ALL courses. Students who wish to withdraw must complete a withdrawal form, available electronically at the School of Public Health web site at <http://sph.bu.edu/registrar/forms> and on the shelves outside the SPH Registrar's Office, Talbot 210 Center. The withdrawal is effective on the date the form is received in the SPH Registrar's Office, and the student's account will be adjusted based upon the Tuition Refund Schedule for the target semester. Federal aid funds will be adjusted according to federal regulations, which stipulate that a student who withdraws retains aid in proportion to the percentage of the semester enrolled.

Dropping a course indicates that you are still enrolled in one or more courses at Boston University. Students should click on the hyperlinked dates on their current schedule on the Student Link to check the drop schedule for their courses. After the "drop with a W" date, no refund of tuition will be given and the course will show on the student's transcript with a grade of W.

How do I register for a class that is web-registration restricted?

Directed study, directed research, all DrPH courses, all practica, and a small number of other courses that require instructor consent for registration are not available for web registration. To register for these courses, you will need to fill out and submit a paper registration form. All paperwork is available at <http://sph.bu.edu/registrar/forms/> and on the shelves outside the Registrar's Office.

I see open seats for a course on the Student Link, but I'm being blocked from registration. Why is this happening?

SPH academic departments have the option of reserving seats in their courses for students of specific concentrations. If you attempt to register for one of these courses via WebReg, you may receive a message stating that the course is full even though the Student Link will show open seats in the course. When this happens, add yourself to the course waitlist, by filling out the online waitlist form, found at: www.sph.bu.edu/waitlistform. Students on the waitlist will be offered spaces as they become available.

How long will I be on a waitlist?

The BUSPH Registrar's Office maintains all waitlists, and when seats become available they contact students by email to offer seats. There is no way to predict how long a student will be on the waitlist for any course. Wait lists are active until the semester or class starts.

Where is the ID Office? When is the ID office open?

The Medical Campus ID office is located at 710 Albany Street. You may obtain a badge Monday through Friday, 7:00 AM to 9:00 AM and 12:30 PM to 3:00 PM. The office will be closed from 9:00 AM- 12:30 PM. Before making a special trip over to the BU Medical Campus to be issued their student ID, it is highly recommended that the student call the ID Office at (617) 638-6879 to confirm office hours.

How do I sign up for an Alumni Education Program?

Alumni of the School of Public Health may seek special permission through the Alumni Office to sit in on School of Public Health classes. Alumni are not registered for the class, so consequently no grade or evidence of attendance is generated. Interested alumni should contact Justine de Marrais in the SPH Alumni Office, justined@bu.edu, at least two months prior to the start of the semester, and payment must be made to the Alumni Office prior to the start of classes.

When will book and reader information be available?

Book and reader information is posted to the Student Insider, <http://sph.bu.edu/studentinsider>, two to three weeks before the semester begins. Readers and books can be purchased from the Barnes and Noble Bookstore in person (at 660 Beacon Street Boston, MA 02215) or online (www.bu.bkstore.com).

Where does my class meet?

A list of class locations is published to the Student Insider, <http://sph.bu.edu/studentinsider>, each semester on the page for Current Students. This list is also generally available after new student orientation for the semester in question.

When is the Registrar's Office open?

The Registrar's Office is open Monday through Thursday from 8:30 AM to 6:00PM and Friday from 8:30 AM to 5:00 PM when the school is open. You may slip paperwork under our office door anytime.

How do I withdraw or take a leave of absence from the University?

Students may apply for up to two semesters of Leave of Absence from BUSPH via a "Request for Leave of Absence or Withdrawal" form, available on the shelves outside Talbot 210 Center or at <http://sph.bu.edu/registrar/forms>. The deadline is the day before the semester starts. Students who wish to withdraw must fax (617-638-5060) or mail the completed "Request for Leave of Absence or Withdrawal" to the SPH Registrar's Office, 715 Albany Street, Talbot 210 Center, Boston, MA 02118. The form is effective the day it is received.

What is the procedure for transferring credits into the MPH program?

Transfer credit forms are available on the School of Public Health web site at <http://sph.bu.edu/registrar/forms/> and on the shelves outside the Registrar's Office on Talbot 2 Center. The forms outline the full transfer credit process in detail. Students who plan to take a course at a graduate school other than BUSPH (including other graduate schools at BU and courses through the Boston Consortium) must apply for transfer credit pre-approval.

What is the process for cross registration?

SPH students who would like to take a course at one of the Boston Consortium schools must obtain pre-approval of transfer credit for the class from the BU School of Public Health. Be aware that the Boston Consortium agreement that governs cross registration among Tufts University, Brandeis University, Hebrew College, and Boston College is for the fall and spring semesters only. Information for both incoming and outgoing cross-registrants is available on the SPH website:

http://sph.bu.edu/index.php?option=com_content&task=view&id=498&Itemid=605

Why am I being billed for health insurance?

Health insurance is required by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for any student enrolled for nine or more credits at any time during the semester. For newly eligible students, health insurance will be automatically assessed on the student's account when they register for nine or more credits. Students registered for less than nine credits may request that insurance be added to their bill regardless of the number of credits carried.

Students who have assessed health insurance on their bills, cannot ignore the charge.

The charge must be paid, waived, or removed by Student Accounting Services (617-353-2264) if in error. Consult the Student Accounting Services website to see if you qualify for a waiver: <http://www.bu.edu/comp/saweb/medins.html>. Contact Ellen Millman in the Office of Student Accounting Services Office (617-353-2870), with any questions or if you are carrying less than nine credits and wish to enroll in the health insurance plan.

What do I need to do to defer my loans?

BU is part of the National Clearinghouse, so students should not have to send in paperwork if they are in status – their status is reported automatically. Students must be registered for at least six credits to be eligible for loan deferment. However, loan deferment procedures vary widely among loan companies, so students' should contact their lender directly with questions about deferment procedures.

I need to get a student discount – how to I verify I am a student?

Students may print and enrollment verifications from the "Personal" tab on the Student Link. These verifications will work for 99% of organizations that ask. If the verification is not acceptable, the Registrar's Office will produce a signed, sealed enrollment verification. Requests need to be made in writing; e-mails that include the student's name, BUID# and date of birth are acceptable also.

UNIVERSITY REGISTRAR FAQ'S

The Office of the University Registrar is located at 881 Commonwealth Avenue, on the second floor. This office provides services to students, alumni, and other clients in the University community and beyond. The Office of the University Registrar collects and disseminates registration and academic information.

How can I get a transcript?

If you are a current student, you may order transcripts on-line through the "Transcript Preview and Ordering" option on the Student Link; there is a $4.00 fee, payable by credit card, for each official transcript ordered on-line. Official transcripts can also be obtained by completing a request form at the Registrar's Office or by sending a letter that includes your name, I.D. number, semester(s) attended, signature, and location(s) the transcript(s) should be sent. Official transcripts requested in person cost $6.00 each, payable with convenience points, check, or cash; transcripts requested by mail also cost $6.00 each, and must be accompanied by payment in check or cash. Faxed transcript requests are not accepted. Current students may obtain unofficial transcripts at the Office of the University Registrar with a photo I.D.

What is the difference between official and unofficial transcripts?

Official transcripts have the Boston University seal and the Registrar's signature. The cost is $4.00 per copy if ordered on-line, and $6.00 if requested in person or by mail. Processing time is about two business days. Official transcripts are often required for scholarship applications and applications to graduate schools. Unofficial transcripts are generally available immediately for current students and within 48 hours for former students who attended prior to 1986. There is no charge for unofficial transcripts.

I need my transcript very quickly. Is there anything I can do to speed up the process?

The Transcript Department is often able to make special accommodations for students with urgent requests. For more information, please call 617-353-1201. Current and recent students who make their requests at the front counter may receive official transcripts immediately, or we can send them express delivery, by FedEx, for an additional fee of $19.00 (rates are higher for foreign delivery).

I can't make it into the Office of the University Registrar to request my transcript. Can my roommate pick one up for me?

Yes. He or she must present a letter signed by you, which states that you allow your roommate to receive your transcripts. Also, the individual authorized to pick up your transcripts must provide photo identification and pay for the transcripts. Transcripts will be provided in a sealed envelope. Parents of a dependent student may request their child's transcript without such authorization.

Has the instructor changed my grade yet?

To check the status of a grade, students may check the Student Link or visit the SPH Registrar's Office or Office of the University Registrar at 881 Commonwealth Avenue with a photo I.D. Grades will not be released over the telephone.

Can you hold my transcript request until my grade change is posted?

No. The Transcript Department does not hold requests pending grade changes or transfer credits. Students should check the Student Link or follow up with the Office of the University Registrar to verify that the desired changes have been made before requesting a transcript.

How do I verify that my account is fully paid?

Check your student account on the green "Money Matters" tab on the Student Link, www.bu.edu/studentlink, or call Student Accounting Services at 617-353-2264.

Do I need an AAC (Advising Authorization Code) to register at BUSPH?

No, students at BUSPH are not required to obtain an Advising Authorization Code.

Will I be receiving a Course Confirmation?

Continuing students should log in to the Student Link to view and confirm their class schedules; new students will receive course confirmations by mail.

Can I qualify for more credits with no extra charge?

Students pay a flat rate for full time tuition, which is charged when students register for 12 to 18 credits per semester. Students must obtain approval from their academic advisor and the SPH Registrar to register for more than 18 credits in a single semester. If the credit overload is approved, students will be charged at the per credit rate for any credits over 18 in a semester.

Can't Register?? Troubleshooting the Morning of Registration

I can't log into the Student Link. Students must have a current Kerberos user name and password to log into Student Link. Your Kerberos user name is the same as your email user name. For example, if your email address is sphstudent@bu.edu, your Kerberos username is "sphstudent." Your password is the same password you use to access your student email account. If you have a current Kerberos user name and password and still have difficulty logging in to Student Link, please contact the Information Technology Help Desk at 617-638-5433.

I can log into Student Link, but cannot register for ANY courses.

There are several reasons you may be prevented from registering. These include:

An Accounting Hold. Student Accounting holds are put in place by the Office of Student Accounting Services because a student owes money to Boston University. Student Accounting Services are the only ones who can lift this hold. To check why you have an Accounting Hold, use the "Student Account Inquiry" option on the Money Matters Tab of the Student Link if you aren't sure. If you have questions, call Student Accounting Services at 617-353-2264.

An Immunization Requirement Hold. University regulations and Mass. State Law require that all full time and international students are in compliance with DPH immunization requirements. If you receive a message that you are not in compliance with vaccination requirements, please contact Student Health Services at 617-353-3575 for information on what documentation you must provide.

A Campus Emergency Alert Contact Hold. New University regulations require that all students, faculty and staff provide an emergency alert phone number. The purpose of this number is to alert students, faculty and staff in case of an emergency on campus. It is different from the emergency contact number, which is generally a family or friend who you wish to be contacted if an emergency occurs. To update your Emergency Alert Information, log in to Student Link and select the purple 'Personal' tab. Emergency alert information can be updated via the link the yellow information box at the top of your screen. This information can only be updated online through Student Link. If you have any trouble entering your Emergency Alert phone number, please contact the Registrar's Office at 617-638-5001 for technical assistance.

MA Motor Vehicle Law. Boston University is required by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to keep a record and provide proof to the state that students have been apprised of the Massachusetts Motor Vehicle Law. The Massachusetts Motor Vehicle Law requires out-of-state students bringing vehicles into the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to file a nonresident driver statement with the local police department in the city in which their university is located. Eligible students must formally acknowledge they have been notified of the law by clicking on the acknowledge button at www.bu.edu/link/shortcut/massmotorlaw.

Instructions for complying with the Massachusetts Motor Vehicle Law:

All out-state-students are required to read the statement on www.bu.edu/link/shortcut/massmotorlaw and click on the "I acknowledge" button. In addition, STUDENTS BRINGING VEHICLES into the Commonwealth of Massachusetts are required to download and complete the Nonresident Driver Statement from the Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles website at www.mass.gov/rmv/forms/20098.pdf. They must mail the form to:

Office of the University Registrar
881 Commonwealth Avenue
Boston, MA 02215

The University Registrar's Office on Commonwealth Avenue will mail a copy of the student's form to the Boston Police Department. The Registrar's Office will then mail a state-approved decal to the student's local address. This decal must be prominently displayed in the uppermost center portion of the windshield of the student's vehicle. If students do not comply with this requirement a hold will be placed on their student account. To check to see if you have fulfilled this requirement, go to the personal tab on the Student Link and then Mass Motor Vehicle Law.

An Advising Code Hold. The School of Public Health does not require advising codes to register for classes. However, if you attended Boston University as an undergraduate or are in a dual degree program that utilizes advising codes such as GMS, the code requirement may still be attached to your account. If you are told you need an advising code to register for courses, contact the SPH Registrar's Office at 617-638-4963 to correct the problem.

Being a Dual Degree Candidate. Dual degree candidates are held to the registration rules and timeframes of the school at which they are primary. The School of Law does not use online registration, so JD/MPH candidates who are taking the majority of their classes at the Law School will not have access to online registration. A BS/MPH student who is a junior at Sargent College registers when registration is open for juniors at BU.

Returning from a Leave of Absence. Students who did not take classes during the previous Fall or Spring semester, but did not take an official Leave of Absence with the Registrar's Office may no longer be active in the system. If you are blocked from setting up a planner or from registering, contact the Registrar's Office for assistance.

Being a Non-Degree Student. Non-degree students are individuals who are taking classes at the School of Public Health, but who have not been admitted into a degree program. For more information about registering as a non-degree student program. Go to <http://sph.bu.edu/nondegree>.

I can log into Student Link and register for some courses, but not all of the ones I wish to register for. There are several reasons you may be blocked from registering for a particular class. These include:

The Class is full. All classes at the School of Public Health have an enrollment limit. Once this limit has been met, the class is closed to web registration. If you would like to be placed on the waitlist for a class that is full, you will need to fill the online waitlist form which can be found at: <http://sph.bu.edu/waitlistform>.

The Class has Seat Reservations. If you receive a notice that a class is full, but it appears that there are seats available in the course, the class has seat reservations. Seat reservations are put in place by the department to save seats for concentrators who must take a course, and for new degree candidates who do not have the opportunity to register immediately. If you would like to be placed on the waitlist for a class that has seat reservations, you will need to fill the online waitlist form which can be found at: <http://sph.bu.edu/waitlistform>. The Registrar's Office is responsible for maintaining ALL waitlists and we request that you do not ask the professor to sign you into the course. If you have questions concerning your waitlist status, please contact the Registrar's Office at 617-638-4963 or 617-638-5057.

SECTION III:

ADMINISTRATIVE/ UNIVERSITY POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

BOSTON UNIVERSITY CODE OF STUDENT RESPONSIBILITIES

As approved on May 12, 1983 by the Board of Trustees of Boston University, the Code of Student Responsibilities is administered by the Office of the Vice President and Dean of Students, Boston University. Full Copies of the entire “Code of Student Responsibilities” may be obtained at 775 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, MA 02215 or at the SPH Office for Student Services, Talbot-209 Center.

The legitimate expectation of all students is that the University will provide an environment in which they may study, learn, work, and live without unwarranted interference from others. The basic responsibilities of the student include:

1. Respecting the rights of others.
2. Respecting the highest standards of academic integrity and reporting any violations of those standards to the Dean of his or her School or College or the Dean of Students for appropriate investigation and disposition.
3. Respecting the property of others and the property, equipment, facilities and programs of the University.
4. Refraining from actions that endanger the health, safety, or welfare of any member of the University community or its guests.
5. Complying with the normative standards, rules, and regulations of the University as well as federal, state, and local laws.

The failure to fulfill any of these responsibilities is a basis for disciplinary action under this Code or the academic regulations of the Schools and Colleges of the University. The Trustees of Boston University require that all employees of the University report and assist in the investigation of violations of the normative standards, rules, and regulations of the University.

Specific conduct expected of students at Boston University is set forth in the rules and regulations of the University, its Schools, Colleges, programs, and residences. The official publications, bulletins, notices of the University, its Schools, Colleges, and programs, as well as other publications (such as the student handbook, residence handbooks and notices, and the student residence contract, etc.) contain additional specific regulations. Because of the size of the University and the diversity of its programs, no one document sets forth all of the rules and regulations governing student conduct.

In the instance of a disciplinary hearing based on charges brought by the Dean of Students, the student will have the following rights:

1. The right to receive from the Dean of Students a clear notice of the alleged violation in reasonable time to permit adequate preparation of his or her defense.
2. The right to have his or her guilt or innocence determined by an impartial panel.
3. The right to have an advisor present at the hearing.
4. The right to call witnesses and to introduce evidence at the hearing.

FAMILY EDUCATIONAL RIGHTS AND PRIVACY ACT – FERPA

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a federal law that protects the privacy of a student's education records. In compliance with FERPA, Boston University does not disclose personally identifiable information contained in student education records, except as authorized by law.

Student Rights under FERPA

- Inspect his/her educational records
- Require that the University obtain his/her prior written consent before releasing personally identifiable information from education records
- Request that corrections be made to educational records if the student believes the records are inaccurate or misleading or otherwise in violation of the student's privacy rights under FERPA

For more information, go to <http://www.bu.edu/reg/general-information/ferpa/>.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY POLICIES

Conditions of Use and Policy on Computing Ethics

Conditions of Use

Notice to All Users: Users of the University's computing facilities, including University-supported electronic mail, are on notice, and by using these facilities agree, that no representation has been made to them as to the privacy of any communication or data stored on or sent through these facilities; that the University has reserved the rights set forth below and in the Boston University Information Security Policy and Policy on Computing Ethics; and that the use of these facilities is restricted to University-authorized purposes.

The use of the University's computing facilities in connection with University activities and de minimis personal use is a privilege extended to various members of the University community; it is not a right. Users of the University's computing facilities are required to comply with, and by using such facilities agree that they are on notice of and agree to comply with, be subject to, and grant the University the right to implement, the Boston University Information Security Policy, the Policy on Computing Ethics and these Conditions of Use. Users also agree to comply with applicable federal, state, and local laws and to refrain from engaging in any activity that is inconsistent with the University's tax-exempt status or that would subject the University to liability. The University reserves the right to amend these Conditions and Policies at any time without prior notice and to take such further actions as may be necessary or appropriate to comply with applicable federal, state, and local laws.

To protect the integrity of the University's computing facilities and its users against unauthorized or improper use of those facilities, and to investigate possible use of those facilities in violation of or in aid of violation of University rules and policies, Boston University reserves the right, without notice, to limit or restrict any individual's use, and to inspect, copy, remove or otherwise alter any data, file, or system resource which may undermine the authorized use of any computing facility or which is used in violation of University rules or policies. Boston University also reserves the right periodically to examine any system and any other rights necessary to protect its computing facilities.

The University disclaims responsibility for loss of data or interference with files resulting from its efforts to maintain the privacy and security of those computing facilities or from system malfunction or any other cause. As used herein and in the Policy on Computing Ethics below, the term "computing facility" means, refers to, and includes any and all forms of computer-related equipment, tools, and intellectual property, including computer systems, personal computers, computer networks, and all forms of software, firmware, operating software, and application software, which are owned or leased by the University or are under the University's possession, custody, or control.

Policy in Computing Ethics

Thousands of users share the computing facilities at Boston University. These facilities must be used responsibly by everyone, since misuse by even a few individuals has the potential to disrupt University business or the work of others. You are therefore required to exercise responsible, ethical behavior when using the University's computing facilities. This includes, but is not limited to, the following:

1. You must use only those computer resources which you have been authorized to use by the University. The unauthorized use of computer resources, as well as the providing of false or misleading information for the purpose of obtaining access to computing facilities, is prohibited and may be regarded as a criminal act and treated accordingly by the University. You must not use University computing facilities to gain unauthorized access to computing facilities of other institutions, organizations, or individuals.
2. You may not authorize anyone to use your computer accounts for any reason. You are responsible for all use of your accounts. You must take all reasonable precautions, including password maintenance and file protection measures, to prevent use of your account by unauthorized persons. You must not, for example, share your password with anyone else, and you should change your password regularly.
3. You must use the University's computer resources only for the University-related purposes for which they were authorized. As with all University equipment, use of the computer facilities, including the Campus Network, for private or commercial purposes is prohibited, except as expressly authorized. You must not use the University's computer resources for any unlawful purpose, such as the installation or distribution of fraudulently or illegally obtained software. Use of external networks connected to the University's networks must comply with the policies of acceptable use promulgated by the organizations responsible for those networks.
4. You must not access, alter, copy, move or remove information, proprietary software or other files (including programs, members of subroutine libraries, data, and electronic mail) without prior authorization from the appropriate University data trustee, security officer, or other responsible party. You must not copy, distribute, display, or disclose third-party proprietary software without prior authorization from the licensor. Proprietary software must not be installed on systems not properly licensed for its use.

5. You must not use any computing facility irresponsibly or in a way that might needlessly interfere with the work of others. This includes transmitting or making accessible offensive, annoying, or harassing material, or materials such as chain letters, unauthorized mass mailings, or unsolicited advertising; intentionally, recklessly, or negligently damaging any system, material, or information not belonging to you; intentionally intercepting electronic communications or otherwise violating the privacy of information not belonging to or intended for you; intentionally misusing system resources or making it possible for others to do so; or loading software or data from untrustworthy sources, such as freeware, onto administrative systems.

6. You are encouraged to report any violation of these guidelines by another individual and any information relating to a flaw in or bypass of computing facility security to Information Technology, University Information Systems, or the Office of Internal Office.

The unauthorized or improper use of Boston University's computer facilities, including the failure to comply with the above guidelines, constitutes a violation of University policy and will subject the violator to disciplinary and/or legal action by the University, and, in some cases, criminal prosecution. In addition, the University may require restitution for any use of service which is in violation of these guidelines. Any questions about this policy or of the applicability of this policy to a particular situation should be referred to Information Technology, University Information Systems, or the Office of Internal Audit.

A. For Student Pages: Individuals and Organizations

The contents of all pages published by students or individuals are solely the responsibility of the page authors. Statements made and opinions expressed on student pages are strictly those of the authors and not Boston University.

Boston University does not review, approve, or endorse the contents of personal pages, nor does the University monitor the content of any page except as necessary to investigate alleged violations of University policies, federal, state, or local laws, or the rights of other persons.

Individual publishers must comply with University policies, including the Conditions of Use and Policy on Computing Ethics, as well as all applicable laws, including those prohibiting copyright and trademark infringement. Violations may result in the imposition of sanctions.

NON-DISCRIMINATION POLICIES

Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action

Boston University prohibits discrimination against any individual on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, physical or mental disability, sexual orientation, or marital, parental, or veteran status. This policy extends to all rights, privileges, programs, and activities, including admissions, financial assistance, employment, housing, athletics, and educational programs. Boston University recognizes that nondiscrimination does not ensure that equal opportunity is a reality. Because of this, the University will continue to implement affirmative action initiatives which promote equal opportunity for all students, applicants, and employees. Inquiries regarding this policy or its application should be addressed to the Executive Director of Equal Opportunity, Equal Opportunity Office, 19 Deerfield Street, Fl. 2, Boston, MA 02215, 617-353-9286.

Sexual Harassment Policy

Boston University is committed to the principle that no employee, student, or applicant for employment or admission should be subject to sexual harassment. The University strives to provide workplaces and learning environments that promote equal opportunity and are free from illegal discriminatory practices, including sexual harassment.

Sexual harassment is a violation of federal and state laws and University policy, as is retaliation against any individual who in good faith files a complaint of sexual harassment or cooperates in the investigation of such a complaint. Upon receipt of a complaint of sexual harassment or retaliation, Boston University will undertake a fair and thorough investigation, with due regard for the rights of all parties. Every reasonable effort will be made to protect the confidentiality of the parties during the investigation. After an investigation, any person who is found to have sexually harassed or retaliated against another will be subject to discipline, up to and including termination of employment and, if a student, expulsion from Boston University.

Definition of Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment is defined as sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and any other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature, whether intentional or unintentional, where:

- An individual's submission to or rejection of the conduct is made, either explicitly or implicitly, a term or condition of employment or of status in a course, program or activity, or is used as a basis for an employment or academic decision; or,
- The conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance, academic performance, or educational experience, or of creating an intimidating, hostile, humiliating, or offensive working, educational, or living environment.

Examples of Conduct Which May Constitute Sexual Harassment

It is not possible to list all circumstances that might constitute sexual harassment. In general, sexual harassment encompasses any sexually related conduct which causes others discomfort, embarrassment, or humiliation, and any harassing conduct, sexually related or otherwise, directed toward an individual because of that individual's sex. Such conduct is subject to this policy whenever it occurs in a context related to the employment or academic environments, or if it is imposed upon an individual by virtue of an employment or academic relationship.

A determination of whether conduct constitutes sexual harassment is dependent upon the totality of the circumstances including the pervasiveness or severity of the conduct.

The Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination lists the following as examples of conduct which may constitute sexual harassment:

- Unwelcome sexual advances—whether they involve physical touching or not;
- Sexual epithets, jokes, written or oral references to sexual conduct, gossip regarding one's sex life; comment on an individual's body; comment about an individual's sexual activity, deficiencies, or prowess;
- Displaying sexually suggestive objects, pictures or cartoons;
- Unwelcome leering, whistling, brushing against the body, sexual gestures, or suggestive or insulting comments;
- Inquiries into one's sexual experiences; and
- Discussion of one's sexual activities.

In order to constitute sexual harassment, conduct must be unwelcome. Conduct is unwelcome when the person being harassed does not solicit or invite it and regards it as undesirable or offensive. The fact that a person may accept the conduct does not mean that he or she welcomes it.

As a university, Boston University, its employees, and students also must be aware of the need for freedom of inquiry and openness of discussion in its educational and research programs, and must strive to create and maintain an atmosphere of intellectual seriousness and mutual tolerance in which these essential features of academic life can thrive. No university can or should guarantee that every idea expressed in its classrooms or laboratories will be inoffensive to all; pursued seriously, education and scholarship necessarily entail raising questions about received opinions and conventional interpretations. Boston University does guarantee, however, that credible accusations of inappropriate sexual remarks or actions will be investigated promptly, thoroughly, and fairly.

Any student who believes that he or she has been a victim of sexual harassment may:

- File in writing a formal grievance with the SPH Dean, Talbot-301center, 617-638-4644; or
- Contact the Dean of Students, 775 Commonwealth Avenue, Third Floor East, 617-353-4126; or
- Contact The Office of Equal Opportunity at 617-353-9286.
- Contact the Director of Judicial Affairs and Student Safety Programs in the Office of the Dean of Students, 775 Commonwealth Avenue, Third Floor East, (617) 353-4126

Any of the above contacts will direct you to the appropriate assistance and will be able to answer any questions you may have. Full copies of the “Boston University Sexual Harassment Policy” are available at any of the above Boston University offices.

In addition to the above Boston University offices, students may contact the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination at 617-727-3990 or the Office for Civil Rights at 617- 223-9662.

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES

Grievance and Arbitration Procedures in Cases of Alleged Discrimination

University policy and federal law prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, ethnic origin, age, sex, disability, sexual orientation or other unlawful bias.

When a student has reason to believe that his or her rights have been denied by reason of discrimination on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, ethnic origin, age, sex, disability, sexual orientation or other unlawful bias he or she may file in writing a formal grievance with the Dean of the School of Public Health, Talbot-3center, 715 Albany Street or the Vice President and Dean of Students, 775 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, MA 02215. The grievance statement should be as specific as possible regarding the action(s) that precipitated the grievance: date, place, and people involved; efforts made to settle the matter informally; and the remedy sought.

If a student's grievance alleges discrimination on the basis of disability, the Director of the Office of Disability Services, who is the University's Compliance Officer for Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, will also be provided with a copy of the grievance and will be involved in resolution of the grievance as appropriate.

Full copies of the “Grievance Procedures in Cases of Alleged Discrimination” are available at the SPH Office for Student Services, Talbot-208 center or at the Office of the Vice President and Dean of Students, 775 Commonwealth Avenue, Third Floor, Boston, MA 02215.

Dispute Resolution Process

Situations sometimes arise in which students feel that they have not been dealt with fairly, do not agree with a decision made by an office of the University or School, or have a concern about a program, course, member of the staff, or faculty. The student's SPH academic advisor and the SPH office of Student Services will assist students who have such concerns.

As a general rule, a concern or complaint from a SPH student should be directed to the persons whose actions or inactions have given rise to the concern or complaint. Whenever possible, every effort should be made to resolve the problem promptly at the level at which it occurred. The student may pursue the issue within the normal reporting structure of the academic/administrative department at the SPH. If a student feels he/she has been unfairly treated by the instructor or TA of a SPH course, the student should go to the Chairman of the department of the course in which there is a dispute. If the Chairman is the instructor, the student should seek assistance from the SPH Director of Student Services and/or the SPH Office of the Dean of Academic Affairs.

If students need further assistance with resolving the issue, they should contact the SPH Director of Student Services at 617-638-5059. At any time during this process, students may seek assistance from their SPH academic advisor. The SPH Director of Student Services will coordinate additional steps if necessary with the appropriate parties. This may include speaking/meeting with faculty, Department Chairman, Associate Dean of Academic Affairs, and other Associate and Assistant Deans and the Dean.

COMPLIANCE REQUIREMENTS

In order to register for courses at the University, both full-time and part-time students must comply with the following two policies:

1. Boston University uses an on-demand alert and response system called Send Word Now. In the event of a campus emergency, Send Word Now's technology would allow us to contact the entire campus community immediately through a variety of electronic means, including text messaging, e-mail, and voice mail. To ensure the effectiveness of this system, students need to provide an emergency alert phone number on the Student Link and periodically update that number. For more information about the Send Word Now system, please visit <http://www.bu.edu/emergency/sendwordnow/faq.html>.

2. Massachusetts law requires that students be immunized against a number of diseases in order to attend university in the Commonwealth. Boston University strictly enforces this policy. Student registration will be blocked if the required shot information is not submitted. There is a seven-day grace period after the first day of classes to submit this information. This information must be submitted on the Boston University Medical History and Physical Report form, which must be signed by a doctor, nurse practitioner, or physician's assistant.

*In addition, out-of-state students must comply with the Massachusetts Motor Vehicle Law. This law is explained in detail on the University Registrar's website. The Massachusetts Motor Vehicle Law requires that all out-of-state students, including those who do not bring cars to Massachusetts, sign an acknowledgement that they have been informed of the law.

The Massachusetts Motor Vehicle Law requires out-of-state students bringing vehicles into the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to file a nonresident driver statement with the local police department in the city in which their university is located: "It is unlawful for a resident student to fail to file a nonresident driver statement with the police department located in the same city or town as the school or college attended, in accordance with Section 3 of Chapter 90 of the Massachusetts General Laws. Failure to file such statement is punishable by a fine not to exceed $200."

Boston University, in turn, is required by the Commonwealth to keep a record and provide proof to the state that students have been apprised of the law. Eligible students must formally acknowledge they have been notified of the law by clicking on the acknowledge button at www.bu.edu/link/shortcut/massmotorlaw. Students who fail to do so will not be in compliance and will be unable to register for upcoming semesters.

MEDICAL INSURANCE

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts requires that any full-time student or student in a full-time certified status be covered under a health insurance policy based in the United States. All residents of Massachusetts are required to attain health insurance. This law affects all full-time and part-time students attending BUSPH and maintaining residence in the state. Student options for health insurance include the Boston University Aetna Student Health Plan or options offered by the state.

Any student enrolled for nine or more credits in a semester is automatically enrolled in and charged the fee for the Boston University student medical insurance, as is any student in a certified full-time status such as doctoral students paying the continuing study fee.

Students covered under an acceptable domestic medical insurance policy may waive the Boston University medical insurance. The deadline for waiver is September 30, 2013. Students who are graduating in January may request a refund of their premium; the deadline is early January. Questions regarding medical insurance should be referred to Student Accounting Services; 617-353-2264 or to the web site, <http://bu.edu/comp/saweb>.

Health Records and Immunizations

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts requires that all full-time students and many part-time students enrolled in colleges and universities complete a series of immunizations. The state requirements are described in detail on the Commonwealth of Massachusetts web site at: <http://www.mass.gov/eohhs/docs/dph/regs/105cmr220.pdf>

For international students, this requirement is of special importance; international students who fail to comply with this requirement, may be prohibited from attending classes, which could cause them to violate legal immigration status.

To complete the health and immunization requirement, students must download the most recent Health Form ("IMMUNIZATION AND PHYSICAL FORM") from <http://www.bu.edu/shs/forms/index.shtml>. and have the form completed by a doctor before arriving on campus.

The completed form and requested documents should then be returned to:

Boston University
Student Health Services

EMERGENCY COMMUNICATIONS AND CANCELLATION OF CLASSES

In the event of an emergency, notices will be posted to the home pages of the:

BUSPH Insider (<http://sph.bu.edu/insider>)

BUSPH Student Insider, (<http://sph.bu.edu/si>)

BUSPH Web site, (<http://sph.bu.edu>)

In the event of weather-related cancellations of classes, the following schedule will be observed:

9 a.m. classes – A decision will be posted to BUSPH web sites no later than 7 a.m.

11 a.m. classes – A decision will be posted to BUSPH web sites no later than 9 a.m.

2:30 p.m. classes – A decision will be posted to BUSPH web sites no later than 12:30 p.m.

6:00 p.m. classes – A decision will be posted to BUSPH web sites no later than 3:30 p.m.

EMAIL NOTIFICATION: Email messages will be sent to faculty, staff and students in the event of closings, but may not arrive immediately if email servers are busy. We recommend checking the Insider and Student Insider for messages.

BUSPH MAIN TELEPHONE NUMBER: In the event of class or campus closings, a message will also be posted to the BUSPH main telephone number: 617-638-4640.

STUDENTS PLEASE NOTE: Do not rely on information about the Charles River Campus or Boston University. The Boston University Medical Campus has different closing policies from the Charles River Campus. Obtain information specific to SPH through the above mentioned methods. Cancellation notices must specify "SPH" in order for them to be relevant to SPH.***

Instructors are required to reschedule cancelled classes. Students will be notified by the instructor of make-up dates for any cancelled classes.

MEDICAL CAMPUS STUDY ROOM GUIDELINES

Boston University Medical Campus students, in concert with the student services and administrative offices of the Medical Campus, developed and adopted the following guidelines for use in study rooms. The purpose of these guidelines is to ensure that study room space is used in a productive and collegial manner for group study. These guidelines are posted in each study room so that Medical Campus students may actively manage their study room spaces.

Guidelines:

1. Use of study rooms is available to Boston University Medical Campus students who are current Terrier Card holders.
2. It is expected that students will resolve any difficulties pertaining to use of the study rooms according to the guidelines.
3. Please respect the schedule for room use posted by the Office of Resource Scheduling. Questions may be directed to 617-638-4040. Meetings and classes may be added to the schedule up to the time of the event, and students utilizing the room for study purposes must yield to a scheduled meeting or class.
4. Windows to study rooms must be uncovered so others can see if the room is in use.
5. Doors to study rooms must be left unlocked at all times while the room is in use.
6. One person in a study room must share the study room with an arriving study group. (A group is defined as two or more students).
7. Rooms should not be left unattended for more than 30 minutes. Any items, including books, personal effects, and the like, which remain in the room after 30 minutes of disuse may be stacked neatly to one side by the next person to use the room. The risk of damage to or loss of unattended items is assumed by the owner.
8. Trash should be placed into the trash receptacles in the rooms.
9. BUMC Administration may restrict the use of study rooms or request that students vacate rooms that need to be utilized for scheduled classes, meetings, or emergencies.

To report non-compliance, please contact:

- School of Medicine: 617-638-4166
- School of Dental Medicine: 617-638-4787
- School of Public Health: 617-638-5059
- Division of Graduate Medical Sciences: 617-638-5122
- Office of Resource Scheduling: 617-638-4040

In the event of an emergency, please call Security at 4-4444 from the nearest house telephone. If you are using a cell phone, dial 617-414-4444.

For facility needs (e.g., the room is too hot or too cold), contact Control at 638-4144 from the nearest house telephone.

WORKPLACE VIOLENCE PREVENTION POLICY

Threats at imminent violence, violent incidents, or dangerous or emergency situations should be reported immediately to the Boston University Police Department at 617-353-2121, the Department of Public Safety on the Medical Campus at 617-414-4444, or to local police at 911.

Boston University is committed to promoting and maintaining a safe and secure working environment for its faculty and staff, employees, students and visitors. Violent behavior, threats of violence, or physical intimidation will not be tolerated in the Boston University workplace. If such conduct occurs, it should be promptly reported to the proper authority and investigated. The University will take appropriate action in response to reports of such conduct. Employees found to have violated this policy will be subject to disciplinary action, which may include immediate dismissal. In addition, the University may assist in pursuing civil penalties, criminal penalties, or other appropriate action against the offender. Student offenders will be subject to the Code of Student Responsibilities in addition to this policy.

Anyone who believes that he or she is a victim of threatening or violent conduct in the workplace, or who observes such behavior or believes a credible threat of such behavior exists, should immediately report the conduct. Those who make such reports in good faith will be protected from any retaliatory employment actions.

Prohibited Conduct

Prohibited conduct in the Boston University workplace includes violent behavior, physical attacks, verbal or physical threats of violence, physical intimidation, stalking, and property damage committed by or against any faculty or staff, or any postdoctoral, graduate, or undergraduate student employed at the University. Prohibited conduct does not encompass lawful acts of self-defense or the defense of others. Most personal situations need not be reported to Boston University unless they pose a risk of violence in the workplace. Examples of personal situations that could pose a risk of violence in the workplace and should be reported to the appropriate authority at Boston University include, but are not limited to:

- Incidents or threats of domestic violence against an employee where it is possible that the threatening party could seek out the employee at work;
- Receipt of threatening or harassing telephone calls, emails, or other communications;
- Unwanted pursuit or threats by an outside party who has been observed at or near the workplace; and
- Any situation in which an employee has obtained a protective or restraining order naming his or her workplace as a prohibited area of contact.

Employees facing personal situations that involve violence or the potential for violence are encouraged to seek confidential counseling assistance through one of these resources:

- University's Faculty & Staff Assistance Office at 617-353-5381
<http://www.bu.edu/fsao>
- Office of the Dean of Marsh Chapel or Religious Life including the University Chaplains at 617-358-3394, <http://www.bu.edu/chapel/staff/chaplains/>

Confidential problem-solving assistance is available from the:

- University's Office of the Ombuds at 617-358-5960, <http://www.bu.edu/ombuds>
- Faculty Advisory Committee of the Faculty Council at <http://www.bu.edu/fafc/committee/committee-list/faculty-advisory-committee/>.

Responsibilities

The prevention of workplace violence is a shared responsibility. Specific responsibilities are described below. Depending on the circumstances, the University may be obligated to report incidents to external agencies. The University's policy is to fully comply with its reporting obligations in all cases. Anyone having questions about such reporting are encouraged to contact the Boston University Police Department, BUPD.

Everyone at Boston University:

- Report violent incidents or threats of imminent violence to BUPD, Medical Campus Public Safety or local police.
- Report warning signs of actual or potential violent or hostile behavior that may affect the workplace as soon as possible to BUPD, Medical Campus Public Safety, your manager or supervisor, Office of the University Provost, Human Resources, or Dean of Students. (See "Procedures for Reporting Violence or Threats of Violence" on the following page.)
- Be alert to behaviors or attitudes that may be indicators of disruptive, threatening, or violent behaviors such as: recent changes in behavior, appearance, or demeanor; work or personal crisis; withdrawal from normal activities or contacts; substance abuse; threats or references to violence or self-harm; possession of or fascination with weapons; and expressions of being wronged, humiliated, or degraded.

Managers and Supervisors:

- Ensure awareness of this policy by faculty and staff, as well as by postdoctoral, graduate, and undergraduate student employees within your areas of supervision.
- Contact Boston University Police Department or Medical Campus Public Safety if you have concerns about a possible threat of violence.
- Take appropriate steps to protect those who report threatening behavior from retaliation.
- Participate in planning and response efforts to mitigate the risk of workplace violence.

Boston University Police Department and Medical Campus Public Safety:

- Respond to reports of workplace violence and emergency situations and coordinate with other law enforcement agencies.
- Advise and coordinate with the Office of the University Provost, Human Resources, and other affected departments on appropriate responses to threats of workplace violence.
- Work with employees in at-risk areas to develop safety plans.
- Take appropriate steps to protect those who report threatening behavior from retaliation.

Human Resources and University Provost's Office:

- Ensure the effective implementation of this policy by collaborating with hiring units/departments.
- Review reports of potential workplace violence or hostility affecting employees, consult other campus units as appropriate, and recommend appropriate responses.
- Oversee disciplinary action against employees who have violated the policy.
- Coordinate preventive measures to encourage a safe and secure workplace.
- Review this policy annually and revise it as appropriate to enhance its effectiveness.
- Take appropriate steps to protect those who report threatening behavior from retaliation.
- Notify Boston University Police Department or Medical Campus Public Safety of threats of violence reported to Human Resources or the University Provost's Office.

Boston University Faculty & Staff Assistance Office:

- Provide crisis counseling, advocacy, and management consultation for those affected by workplace violence, hostility, or harassment.
- Provide consultation regarding behavioral risk factors in the prevention and management of potential workplace violence.
- De-brief with campus units, individuals, or groups who may experience secondary trauma from a violent incident.

Procedures for Reporting Violence or Threats of Violence

It is the responsibility of every member of the campus community to take any violence or threat of violence seriously and to immediately report workplace violence or threats of violence to the appropriate authorities listed below. Contact BUPD at 617-353-2121 or Medical Campus Public Safety at 617-414-4444 if you are not sure whether there is an immediate threat of violence or hostility, but are concerned that the behavior of any person may lead to violence.

Imminent threats, violent incidents, or dangerous or emergency situations:

- Local police (911)
- Boston University Police Department, 617-353-2121, (TTY: 617-353-5387), <http://www.bu.edu/police/>
- Medical Campus Public Safety, 617-414-4444, <http://www.bumc.bu.edu/publicsafety>
- Throughout the Charles River and Medical Campuses there are many blue emergency call boxes that have a red button inside that will automatically connect you to the Police Department.

SECTION IV:

OTHER ACADEMIC OPPORTUNITIES

MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH LEADERSHIP EDUCATION PROGRAM

This program is designed for aspiring leaders in the field of MCH. It combines courses designed to build competencies in program design, management, evaluation, policy analysis, and advocacy; the MCH practicum; a leadership course and workshop(s); and individual mentoring with Dr. McCloskey. In the leadership and mentoring components of the program, students assess and articulate their talents, achievements, limitations, and career aspirations; gain experience in team collaboration and leadership; prepare for successful employment searching, interviewing, and presentation of self and ideas.

Any MCH concentrator may apply for the MCH Leadership Education Program after completing the first MCH core course, MC725, with a B+ or above and have an overall GPA of at least 3.3. Please consult with your advisor about your decision to apply. If accepted to MCLEP, you agree to complete a cluster of courses to meet specific competencies set forth by the Association of Teachers of MCH (ATMCH; see Appendix), attending career development sessions, and a culminating experience that consists of the ‘integrated paper’ and electronic portfolio. Students must earn at least a B in each MCLEP course and maintain a 3.3 overall average to receive the MCH Leadership Education Program Certificate.

MCH Leadership Curriculum Requirements

The curriculum for the MCH Leadership Education Program, combined with the BUSPH core curriculum, addresses many of the MCH core competencies defined by the Association of Teachers of Maternal and Child Health (ATMCH). These include: the scientific basis of MCH work (1.0, 2.0); methodological and analytical skills (2.0); management and communication skills (3.0); policy and advocacy skills (3.0 and 4.0); and interdisciplinary issues and skills (5.0).

The following table shows which courses can be used to meet these competencies:

The MCLEP Culminating Experience/Integrated Paper and MCH Electronic Portfolio

The MCH Culminating experience for MCLEP students includes two components: 1) the “Integrated Paper”, which is required of all MCH students, and 2) an MCH Electronic Portfolio (created using bu.digication.com). The purpose of the E-folio is to document and present to faculty and potential employers the students’ achievements as they relate to the ATMCH competencies. It includes items such as a resume, personal mission statement, major academic papers and projects (per competency area), and structured reflections. The “Integrated Paper” is incorporated into the e-folio in order to demonstrate the student’s capacity to think critically and integrate field and classroom learning.

Information and applications for the program will be emailed during the Spring semester. For more information about the Maternal and Child Health Leadership Education Program, contact Judy Margo, at jmargo@bu.edu or 617-414-1382.

MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH FELLOWSHIPS

The MCH concentration is committed to preparing students for the demands of practice. In keeping with the goal, 10-12 MCH fellowships are awarded each year to concentrators who seek to build their knowledge and skills in a specialized area of maternal and child health.

The MCH Fellowship program is an opportunity for students to work closely with a faculty member and gain experience on a practice- or research-based project. Fellows are awarded $2000 over the course of the fellowship, and make a commitment of providing approximately 200 hours of work over a period of 10-12 months (typically averaging 5 hours/week). The exact timing and pacing of fellowships vary by project. All fellows are required to present their work at an MCH Forum before their graduation, and encouraged and supported to submit an abstract and present their work at national meetings.

Full-time MCH concentrators are invited to apply for a fellowship during the first fall semester of their MPH studies. Part time students are welcome to apply in the second fall semester. A detailed list of available fellowships will be distributed to students, along with an application form. Acceptance is based on the match between the applicant's experience and specific faculty projects, as well as the applicant's prior academic achievement and articulation of purpose for the specified fellowship.

The 2013-2014 fellowship opportunity listing and application will be available and distributed via email at the beginning of the fall semester. Fellowships typically begin in November and run through mid-September of the following year, though this may vary. Please contact Judy Margo, MCH Project Manager, at jmargo@bu.edu or 617-414-1382, should you wish to learn more about the MCH Fellowship program.

While specific projects vary each year, typical categories of fellowships are described below:

Fellowships in Interdisciplinary & Translational Research aim to build research and evaluation competence as it applies to a broad array of MCH issues. Students engage with faculty on all aspects of design and implementation of research projects. Past MCH Research topics include: evaluation of peer educator-based strategies to prevent adolescent substance use and sexually transmitted infection; childbirth experiences; child feeding practices and obesity in diverse cultural groups; studies of fetal and infant mortality; and health disparities in the postpartum and inter-conception periods.

Fellowships in Integration of Family-Centered Practice and Cultural Competence aim to build competencies in assuring family and community participation in the design and implementation of MCH programs and policies, and understanding and practicing the "art" of cultural competence, which includes recognizing cultural biases, valuing cultural differences, and creating public health programs that effectively engage and serve people from different cultures. Fellows participate in practice-based projects in partnership with community organizations such as Dorchester House Multi-Service Center, the Nutrition and Fitness for Life Program, and the Boston Public Health Commission.

Fellowships in Life Course Perspective in Research & Practice aim to build competency in the application of the life course perspective to MCH research and practice. The perspective, which incorporates frameworks of human development over the life span and of the environmental and social determinants of individual and family health, presents challenges to MCH practitioners in policy context of categorical programs and policies. Fellows work with faculty on projects related to the adaptation and application of the life course perspective to applied research projects and state programs that seek to cross traditional organizational boundaries.

LEND Fellowship in Disability Studies (1 per year) aims to develop leadership skills and substantive knowledge in the area of disability-related health disparities. This Fellowship is collaboration with the Maternal and Child Health Bureau's Leadership Education in Neuro-developmental and Related Disabilities (LEND) Fellowship Program at the Eunice Kennedy Shriver Center, based at the University of Massachusetts Medical School. Fellows gain in-depth knowledge of family centered, culturally competent practice and policies as they relate to issues of health disparities in disability communities. In this unique opportunity, the Fellow joins the LEND program (located in Waltham, MA) one day/week (Friday) for an academic year (September-June) to take LEND core curriculum courses. The LEND curriculum includes classes on policy, legal, and management issues related to disability populations and a year-long leadership seminar. The Fellow's SPH practicum requirement is fulfilled through a mentored experience working with a disability organization. LEND fellows also receive class credits and a different stipend provided by the LEND program rather than BUSPH MCH. Applications for the LEND Fellowship are made in January for the following academic year. If interested, please discuss with Prof. Emily Feinberg to learn more.

PEACE CORPS MASTER'S INTERNATIONAL PROGRAM

The Master's International (MI) Program combines the MPH program with 27 months of field experience in the U.S. Peace Corps. To be accepted into the MI program, applicants must apply to and meet the criteria of both BUSPH and the U.S. Peace Corps, as each institution makes its acceptance decisions independently. Once admitted by both institutions, an applicant may pursue the MI Program.

MI students may concentrate in any department in the School. In addition to the MPH requirements, MI students must take IH 703 Global Public Health: History, Approaches & Practices, 2 credits; and IH 704 International Public Health and Medical Care, 4 credits. MI students who not International Health concentrators must take PM 702 as their health policy & management core course and can take IH 704 as an elective.

Program participants are highly encouraged to take IH 808 Research Proposal Development, 4 credits; and IH 811 Applied Research Methods in International Health, 4 credits. These specially selected international health courses provide knowledge specific to the developing country environment.

MI program participants can declare an HIV/AIDS specialty course of study, designed to develop skills and knowledge vital to addressing the pandemic and learning about programs used to address it. To gain this specialty, program participants must also take EP 764 The Epidemiology of HIV/AIDS in the Developed and Developing World, 2 credits; and IH 795 Global AIDS Epidemic: Social & Economic Determinants, Impact & Responses, 4 credits. (If unable to take any of the above, a relevant available course can be substituted with permission of the program's MI Coordinator.)

MI students can meet their MPH practicum requirement after completion of Peace Corps training by submitting a reflection piece on that experience to the Practice Office.

As Peace Corps volunteers, MI students can earn up to 5 credits via directed study, as long as those credits are needed to satisfy the 48-credit MPH requirement. In recognition of the commitment made by the MI student to serve, BUSPH provides a tuition waiver for those credits. In order to learn what to expect during Peace Corps service, the MI Program holds monthly meetings during the Fall & Spring semesters, where students have an opportunity to hear from Returned Peace Corps Volunteers (RPCVs) and discuss relevant issues of working and living abroad. The program website, <http://sph.bu.edu/peacecorps/> also includes links to blogs of MI students currently serving in Peace Corps, making it easy to read about their experiences.

New MPH students in the MI program should contact MI Program Coordinator, Joseph Anzalone, in the Department of International Health, (617-638-5396, josanz@bu.edu) to obtain the monthly meetings schedule and join the MI listserv. MI Students are expected to update the MI Coordinator regarding their status as they progress through the MPH program and through the Peace Corps placement process.

AWARDS AND HONORS

For Professors:

L. Adrienne Cupples Award

This annual award recognizes a biostatistician whose academic achievements reflect the contributions to teaching, research, and service exemplified by Professor L. Adrienne Cupples. Dr. Cupples joined the faculty at the Boston University School of Public Health (BUSPH) in 1981 and later served as founding Chair of the Department of Biostatistics and Co-Executive Director of the Graduate Program in Biostatistics. During her tenure at BUSPH, she has advanced the field of biostatistics through extensive publications in major journals and book chapters on collaborative and methodological research, development and effective teaching of a wide range of biostatistics courses, and mentorship of numerous graduate students and faculty.

Metcalf Award

The University-wide Metcalf Cup and Prizes are awarded annually at the University's Commencement ceremony to three outstanding teachers. The Cup and Prize and the Awards were established in 1973 by a gift from the late Dr. Arthur G. B. Metcalf to create "a systematic procedure for the review of the quality of teaching at Boston University and the identification and advancement of those members of the faculty who excel as teachers."

Excellence in teaching requires mastery of the subject matter, lucidity of exposition, and thorough, thoughtful evaluation of student work. To be eligible, a faculty member must have held a full-time, continuing appointment on the teaching faculty for not less than six semesters and not be currently under review for promotion or tenure or on sabbatical leave or leave of absence. Previous winners of the Metcalf Cup and Prize are not eligible, nor are teachers whose appointments are classified as administrative positions. Preceptors are eligible.

Scotch Award

The Norman A. Scotch Award for Excellence in Teaching is the highest award for teaching at the Boston University School of Public Health. It is named in honor of the School's co-founder and first Dean.

The Scotch Award is awarded annually a faculty member who has made outstanding and sustained contributions to the School of Public Health's educational programs. The award recognizes teachers who have substantially enriched the educational experience for students at the school. Criteria for the award include superior performance in classroom teaching, innovation, creativity in course design, and commitment to the advising and mentoring of students.

The award is presented annually at the School of Public Health Commencement Ceremony. The awardee receives an engraved Revere Bowl to commemorate receipt of the award and a prize of $1,000. The awardee's name is engraved on the Scotch Award tray that is on permanent display in the school.

All faculty of the school are eligible for this award, including full-time, part-time and adjunct faculty. The Award may be given more than once to the same individual, but at least five years must have passed since the prior award.

Semester Teaching Awards

Each semester teaching awards are presented to faculty members based on the results of the student evaluations. These awards are based primarily on the evaluations students give the class. Awardees receive a plaque at the first faculty meeting following the semester.

For Students:

Delta Omega Honor Society

Founded in 1924, at Johns Hopkins University, School of Public Health, Delta Omega is the honorary society for graduate studies in public health. It celebrates excellent academic achievement, devotion to public health principles, and outstanding service in public health. There are currently 48 chapters throughout the United States and Puerto Rico.

The chapters elect new members each year from four groups:

1. Students who are candidates for a graduate degree in public health
2. Faculty members at the school of public health
3. Alumni actively engaged in public health work
4. Honorary members possessing exceptional qualifications

Election from all four groups is based on outstanding performance-scholarship in students, teaching, and research in faculty members, and community service in alumni. Election to membership in Delta Omega is intended not only to recognize merit, but also to encourage further excellence in, and devotion to, public health work. Membership in Delta Omega reflects the dedication of an individual to quality in the field of public health and to protection and advancement of the health of all people. Graduating students with exceptional grade point averages are inducted into Delta Omega and are recognized at the Commencement ceremony in May.

Dean's Award for Student Research

At the annual Science and Technology Day Dean Meenan awards a prize to the best poster presented by an SPH student.

Commencement Student Speaker

The honor of speaking at the Boston University School of Public Health Commencement ceremony is offered annually to a graduating student who has made outstanding and sustained contributions to the BUSPH community. For the purposes of this award, outstanding contributions are broadly defined to include active involvement in the Student Senate, student organizations or other school-wide activities, superior performance in coursework, and commitment to the betterment of the BUSPH community-at-large.

Herb Kayne Prize for Excellence in Biostatistics

The Department of Biostatistics awards an annual prize for the Most Outstanding MPH Student in Biostatistics at the School. Since 1999, this monetary prize is given to an MPH student whose performance was excellent in the Biostatistics concentration. This prize is an expression of our gratitude to Herb Kayne, PhD, for his commitment to teaching epidemiology and biostatistics at BUSPH and his long-enduring interest and dedication to his students in the MPH Program.

Dr. William B. Patterson Memorial Prize for Excellence in Environmental and Occupational Health in the Department of Environmental Health

This award is given annually in memory of Dr. William B. Patterson and his commitment to public health, medicine and education. It is awarded to one graduating master degree student who has shown exemplary academic performance or dedication to research with a preference for students who have demonstrated a desire to make a meaningful contribution to the field of environmental and occupational health.

Dr. Theodore Colton Prize for Excellence in Epidemiology

This prize is awarded in honor of Theodore Colton, Department of Epidemiology Chair Emeritus, at the close of each academic year. It is given to a student concentrating in this area for exemplary academic performance in epidemiology.

Allan R. Meyers Memorial Prize for Excellence in Health Policy and Management

This prize is awarded annually to one or more graduating Health Policy and Management concentrators who exemplify the late Professor Meyers' commitments to academic excellence, to careful research ' particularly into the problems of disabled and other underserved patients, and to developing solutions that ameliorate those problems.

Allan R. Meyers Memorial Fellowship for the Advancement of Careers in Disability

The fellowship's objective is to inspire students of public health, medicine, social work, rehabilitation, and other fields to enter the field of disability-related services and research by supporting internships and research projects in the field, with the hope of affecting positive change in the lives of people with disabilities. The fellowship is available to students from Boston University who wish to pursue an internship or work placement in a clinical or policy-making role in providing direct services to people with disabilities. It is also available to students who wish to undertake a research project that is specifically related to the field of disability in public health.

Katherine M. Skinner Memorial Prize for Commitment to the Study of Women's Health Issues

Katherine M. Skinner Memorial Prize was established to honor the memory of Dr. Katherine M. Skinner, a sociologist and former member of the Health Services/Health Policy and Management faculty. Katherine Skinner, RN, PhD, had one of the first research grants in the country to study the health and well being of women veterans. She discovered disparities in access to care for women soldiers, as well significant sexual violence in the military. Katherine was a woman of courage and conviction and felt it her personal responsibility to speak on behalf of these women who had years before served their country.

This prize was established to honor Katherine Skinner and her many accomplishments, to support her love of education, to promote her passion to improve lives through scientific research, and to recognize her special interest in improving women's health and health care. It is awarded annually to a student at Boston University School of Public Health who has shown dedication to the study of women's health issues.

Rex Fendall Award for Excellence in Public Health Writing in the Department of International Health

Each year a small number of outstanding concentration papers are nominated by the International Health faculty for this award. Professor Emeritus, Rex Fendall judges the papers, and the winner(s) is/are typically announced in late summer and printed in the next graduation bulletin. The winner receives an engraved award bearing the seal of the University, and their name is engraved on a plaque in the Fendall Conference Room in the International Health Dept.

The John Snow, Inc. Award in International Health

This award is in recognition of capacity for original thinking and inspiring others to think; vision, leadership and leadership potential; academic achievement; outstanding practicum or community service; and active participation in courses and activities as an SPH student. The award is sponsored by John Snow Inc. to support BUSPH and acknowledge an outstanding student's achievement and potential to contribute to international public health.

Leonard Glantz Award for Academic Excellence

Leonard H. Glantz Award for Academic Excellence is the highest award granted to a graduating MPH student at Boston University School of Public Health. The award is named in honor of Leonard H. Glantz, Professor of Health Law, Bioethics and Human Rights, who served for 30 years as academic dean.

During his tenure as academic dean, Professor Glantz demanded rigorous standards in curriculum and teaching throughout the academic program. In naming a recipient of the Glantz Award, members of the faculty choose a student whose academic achievement typifies the high standards set by Professor Glantz. Recipients demonstrate exceptional academic performance, creative and critical thinking, and seriousness and professionalism in public health.

The award recipient is chosen annually by the Education Committee, and receives a $1,000 cash prize at the School's annual Commencement Ceremony. The awardee's name is engraved on the Glantz Award tray that is on permanent display at the school.

Community Health Sciences "Rising Star" Award

The Community Health Sciences department is proud to introduce a new award for concentrators in Maternal and Child Health and Social and Behavioral Sciences. The Community Health Sciences Rising Star Award will be presented to two students, one in each concentration, who exemplify academic excellence through maintaining a commitment to public health. Eligible candidates must be in their last semester of a MPH or DrPH program. Each recipient will be selected by members of the CHS Education Committee and will receive a stipend towards their attendance and presentation at the American Public Health Association's annual meeting.

RESOURCES ON THE CHARLES RIVER CAMPUS

Dean of Students and Division of Student Affairs

GSU, 3rd Floor
775 Commonwealth Avenue
617-353-4126
<http://www.bu.edu/dos/>
dos@bu.edu

The mission of the Dean of Students and the Division of Student Affairs is to enhance the quality, character, and perspectives of our students. Through its many orientation, mentoring, and counseling programs, the Division promotes an environment that encourages intellectual exchange and individual expression. By offering these programs and a rich residential environment where students can interact with each other, faculty, staff, and other adults, the Division strives to help students develop both personally and academically. The role of the Dean of Students is to interact with students and student associations to represent student concerns and to provide programs and services that facilitate both personal and academic growth.

Boston University is dedicated to providing an environment that will enable students to effectively engage in academic and intellectual work, community service, and other activities that will enrich their time at the University.

Boston University Center for Career Development

Understanding is what the CCD is all about. We show up every day not to fix your problems or remove obstacles, but to assist you in solving them, to put you in the driver's seat and help you keep the engine running smoothly for years to come.

Among our services: workshops on career-related topics, resume and cover letter reviews, mock interviews, individual career counseling sessions, internship or job search strategies. And that's just for starters. Our online resources and seasoned staff can help you navigate all aspects of career development—from exploring majors and careers to networking, internships, graduate study, and so much more—plus show you how they all tie together. We also offer a wide range of career-related events just for BU students and alumni, and we've partnered with employers from all sectors looking to recruit from the BU community.

DISABILITY SERVICES

Office of Disability Services at Boston University

19 Deerfield Street, 2nd Floor
617-353-3658 (voice or TTY)
Office Email: access@bu.edu
www.bu.edu/disability

Boston University takes great pride in the academic and personal achievements of its many students and alumni with disabilities. The University is committed to providing equal and integrated access for individuals with disabilities to all the academic, social, cultural, and recreational programs it offers. This commitment is consistent with legal requirements, including Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 1990, and embodies the University's historic determination to ensure the inclusion of all members of its communities.

The goal of the Office of Disability Services is to provide services and support to ensure that students are able to access and participate in the opportunities available at Boston University. In keeping with this objective, students are expected and encouraged to utilize the resources of Disability Services to the degree they determine necessary. Although a significant degree of independence is expected of students, Disability Services is available to assist, should the need arise.

Students seeking academic accommodations on the basis of a disability must work directly with Disability Services. Disability Services will review medical documentation and recommend academic accommodations to the School of Public Health on the basis of that documentation. The recommendations of Disability Services must be reviewed and approved by the Dean of the School of Public Health. Medical documentation must comply with University guidelines, which may be obtained from Disability Services. Please note that Disability Services may require as much as two weeks to complete its review, and that the School of Public Health cannot provide academic accommodations on the basis of a disability unless Disability Services has recommended accommodations. Thus, you should start this process before the beginning of your first semester.

For students in the School of Public Health, the Office of Disability Services works in consultation with the Office of Student Services within the School of Public Health. Please contact the Director of Student Services, Mary Murphy-Phillips, mcmurph@bu.edu, at 617-638-5059.

EDUCATIONAL RESOURCE CENTER (ERC)

George Sherman Union

775 Commonwealth Avenue

617-353-5498

www.bu.edu/gsu

The George Sherman Union (GSU), located at 775 Commonwealth Avenue, is one of the “centers” of student life and a focal point of campus activity. Its primary mission is to enhance student life outside the classroom and support educational directives of the university through programs and services that meet the needs of a diverse campus population.

The Union encourages intellectual and social growth by fostering an environment for the free exchange of ideas. A variety of leadership experiences, organizations, resources and programs are offered within the Union. These serve as a catalyst for students to take an active role in campus affairs and greater global society.

Educational Resource Center (ERC)

100 Bay State Road, 6th Floor

617-353-7077

www.bu.edu/erc

erc@bu.edu

The Educational Resource Center (ERC) helps Boston University students develop the range and depth of academic skills required by the University’s rigorous programs. We focus on promoting a disciplined approach to study, fostering active and independent learning, developing an awareness and understanding of one’s own thought process, and advocating the strategic use of resources available throughout the University.

ERC Services:

The ERC offers Peer Tutoring, Writing Assistance, Language Link conversation groups and Workshops. The ERC professional staff is also available to meet with students individually to develop a personalized plan for academic success and/or to assist them in developing specific skills. These services are free and can benefit all students who are interested in improving their academic performance.

EDUCATIONAL RESOURCE CENTER (ERC) (continued)

The ERC programs and services are free to all current BU students (undergraduate and graduate) as well as faculty, staff, and alumni who present a valid Terrier Card upon entering the Center.

During the academic year the ERC is open 9 a.m. - 10 p.m. Monday - Thursday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Friday, 11 a.m. - 5 p.m., and 12 p.m. - 10 p.m. on Sunday.

Residential Education

www.bu.edu/reslife/

The Boston University Office of Residence Life offers Resident Assistant (RA) and Senior Resident Assistant (SRA) positions to qualified students of junior, senior or graduate student status. Resident Assistants are student staff members who live on campus and work in residence facilities in exchange for housing and in some circumstances meal plan compensation. To receive an application or obtain more information about becoming a resident assistant please log on to their website at www.bu.edu/reslife. Please note that all training exercises are mandatory and there time commitment can exceed 20 hours a week, therefore, the Office of Residence Life strongly encourages potential applicants to meet with academic advisors to determine if this is a manageable fit for their schedule.

IDENTIFICATION CARDS (Student ID's)

Student identification cards are called Terrier Cards at Boston University. Students should obtain photo IDs at the Medical Campus Security ID Room. Digital photos will be taken of each full-time student.

The Boston University Medical Campus Security ID Room is located in the 710 Albany Street Garage, 1st floor . The office can be reached at 617- 638-6879. It is open Monday through Friday from 7am-9am and 12:30pm-3pm, closed from 9am-12:30pm.

The Terrier Card Office on the Charles River Campus is located in the basement of the George Sherman Union at 775 Commonwealth Avenue and is open Monday - Friday, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. The office can be reached at 617-353-9966 or at tco@bu.edu

Picture ID Cards

All students should obtain picture ID cards. Students who attend Orientation may obtain their student identification cards (with photo) at orientation. Those students unable to attend Orientation may obtain their identification cards at the Boston University Medical Campus Security ID Room at a later date.

Lost identification cards may be replaced, for a fee of $40.00. Students must first go to the Medical Campus Cashier at Newton Pavilion, 88 E. Newton Street, 2nd floor to make payment before reporting to the id office for replacement ID.

Part-Time Students and Guest Students

Part-time degree candidates and guest students will be mailed identification cards (without photo) approximately three weeks after their student accounts are settled. These ID cards are issued from the Charles River Campus Registrar/Records Office at 881 Commonwealth Avenue. Any part-time degree candidates who have settled their student accounts, yet have not received their identification cards by the beginning of the semester should contact the Office of the University Registrar at 617-353-3612. Part-time students with lost or stolen ID questions may be referred to this office as well.

*Part-time students are still required to attain a picture ID for identification purposes and building access on the Medical Campus.

ID Access on the Medical Campus

IDs are required for to gain access to a number of buildings on campus including the Crosstown building at 801 Massachusetts Avenue. As School of Public Health Students you also will have swipe access to enter the Talbot Building at the doors on the East and West wings 1st floors. Access for students through these doors is available between the hours of 8:30am and 10:00pm on weekdays.

INTERNET/TECHNOLOGY/REPRODUCTION

BUSPH Web site - <http://sph.bu.edu>

Students are encouraged to use the BUSPH web page as a source for announcements, calendars of events, student activities and course requirements and descriptions.

Computers

Computer for general applications, computer-assisted instruction (CAI), bibliographic databases, and Internet and BUMC MEDLINE Plus/OVID are available to SPH students in the Learning Resource Center (see LRC, p.109). Computers for e-mail and general use are available to SPH students in the LRC, the student resource alcove on Talbot-2 (near the east wing), the Graduate Student Lounge in the L-Basement, and in the Student Lounge in Talbot 1 East (see LRC, p. 109 and the BUMC GRADUATE STUDENT LOUNGES, p. 136-137).

Blackboard Learn

<http://learn.bu.edu>

Blackboard Learn is a web-based educational tool that augments the classroom learning experience. Most instructors have created course web sites for their courses through Blackboard Learn. Amongst other things, it provides students with course assignments, supplemental web links and resources, communication tools and discussion boards. In order to take full advantage of this resource, you must be registered for the specific course you access and you must have a BU login name and Kerberos password (see E-MAIL ACCOUNTS, p.109). Please contact the instructor for the course in which you are enrolled in if you are not able to access your course's web page. Please note that your course grades are officially communicated by the University Registrar through the Student Link (see p.111) and not through Blackboard Learn.

FedEx/Kinko's Office and Print Services

715 Albany Street, Talbot West 1st floor

Tel 617-414-COPY (2679) Fax: 617-414-2678

Email: usa5013@fedex.com

<https://psg.kinkos.com/bu>

Boston University has partnered with FedEx Kinko's to allow easy access and expanded services to BUMC faculty, staff and students. FedEx Kinko's At The Medical Campus is located in the Talbot Building retail space, adjacent to the Bank of America ATM, and provides full service/convenient copying and finishing services, as well as, FedEx packaging and shipping options, all with competitive pricing, to the Boston University Medical Center community. FedEx Kinko's Med Campus Center is open Monday through Friday from 7:30 AM to 7:30 PM. 24/7 service is also available at our nearby Copley Square location. For additional printing services, see p. 121.

E-MAIL ACCOUNTS

E-mail is the primary way we communicate with students; SPH students are required to obtain a BU e-mail account. Within two weeks of paying your deposit, new students will receive an e-mail with their BU ID number and then an e-mail explaining how to open an Early Access e-mail account. A Boston University ID number is required to obtain an e-mail account. E-mail account details and information can be found at <http://www.bu.edu/tech/comm/email/>.

Please note that in order to attain your student data over the web (including your grades) you need a BU e-mail account. The "Kerberos" password that is needed to access your BU e-mail account is the same password you will need to access such information as your grades on the Office of the University Registrar web page.

Should you need assistance with your BU login name, Kerberos password, or your e-mail account, contact the BU IT Help Desk at ithelp@bu.edu. If you are in Boston, you may go in person to the IT Help Center at Mugar Library or to the Learning Resources Center in the Medical Campus Library.

Starting September 2012, all BU students will have their BU Email hosted by Google. BU Google Apps is the program to have your email hosted by Google, more information about using the BU Email hosted by Google can be found at <http://www.bu.edu/tech/accounts/email/google/>

LECTURE SERIES

Public Health Forum

Public Health Forum is a monthly presentation at which students, faculty, and colleagues gather to examine contemporary problems or issues in the public health world. Speakers include public health practitioners and policy experts from around the globe and faculty from schools of public health universities. The goal of Public Health Forum is to promote awareness and dialogue about matters critical to the public's health. The Forum is held monthly from 12 –1 PM during the academic year in room L-112. Topics for the Forum will be posted monthly throughout the school and medical campus as well as on the SPH web. If you have any questions about the Public Health Forum, please contact Diane Beliveau at beliveau@bu.edu or 617-638-4644.

School Of Law

Brown Bag Lunch Talks, Distinguished Speaker Program

Law School faculty members and other distinguished scholars discuss legal topics of current interest. For more information and for schedules, contact Christine Marx, Assistant Dean for Student Affairs, School of Law at 617-358-1800.

Slone Epidemiology Brown Bag Seminars

The Epidemiology department and the Slone Epidemiology Center hold seminars that all students are welcome to attend. Past topics have included risk factors for breast cancer in the Women's Health Initiative, research on prostate cancer survival, Aboriginal child health in Australia, reviewing osteoarthritis policy models, issues in studying uterine rupture, and nutritional epidemiology. In order to be placed on the email listserv to be notified of monthly research talks, please contact the Epi Dept at epi@bu.edu.

BioBUssiness Organization

Founded in Fall of 2002, the Boston University BioBUssiness Organization (formerly Biotechnology Association (BUBA) is a university-wide forum that brings together like-minded students, alumni, staff, faculty and administration to foster collaboration and networking between academia and the pharmaceutical, biotechnology, medical device, and diagnostic industries. This is achieved through a number of activities including:

- Industry events and presentations
- On-site tours of biotech-related facilities
- Consulting related opportunities with local companies
- Inter-university business incubation
- Social mixers

Membership benefits include a centralized access point to: recruiting resources, life sciences-related collaborations and networking; alumni network, educational opportunities and access to university-wide research. For more information, please contact bbo@bu.edu

The Sol Levine Lecture Series

The Sol Levine Lectureship on Society and Health commemorates medical sociologist Sol Levine. The three Boston institutions where he served as a faculty member- BU School of Public Health, Harvard School of Public Health and the Health Institute at Tufts- New England Medical Center- established the lectureship in his name. Lectures focus on social factors related to health and are open to the public at no charge.

The Annual William J. Bicknell Lecture

The annual William J. Bicknell Lectureship in Public Health was established at BUSPH in 1999. Each year the Lecture features a keynote speaker and panel discussion on public health controversies.

Library holdings consist of approximately 136,232 print volumes, including 29,421 monograph volumes. Additionally, the library has 7,792 electronic books and 7,355 current subscriptions to electronic journals and publications. The Library has a substantial collection in public health, and access to 334 bibliographic databases including MEDLINE, POPLINE, and Web of Science. In addition to the resources of the BUMC Library, SPH students, faculty and staff have access to the University Libraries' collections of more than 2.4 million physical volumes, 4.6 microform units, 45,264 current unique serials titles, and 77,000 media titles located at the Mugar, Science/Engineering, and other BU libraries.

PubMed's MEDLINE database is available through a Web interface, providing the full MEDLINE database, with search capabilities for beginners through advanced levels. Also available are Evidence-Based Medicine databases, which include full text access to ACP Journal Club, the Cochrane Database of Systematic Reviews, the Database of Abstracts of Reviews of Effects, and the Cochrane Central Register of Controlled Trials. Thousands of full text journals licensed by the library through publishers or purchased as packages through vendors are accessible when searching databases via the SFX Link Resolver software.

Wireless access and power outlets for laptops are available in the Library. BUMC students, faculty and staff access licensed resources remotely through EZproxy or VPN for wireless laptops. A valid Kerberos user name and password is required (the same user name and password used to access a bu.edu email account) to access the University's licensed electronic resources.

Other services include Reference and Interlibrary Loan services. Self-service scanners are available on all floors of the Library. The Library also offers a variety of information literacy instructional sessions including database searching, and using citation management tools.

The BU Libraries' PRIMO/ALMA integrated library system includes electronic and print journals, books, databases, theses and additional selected web-based resources. Access is available remotely and through computers located in all campus libraries.

Boston University is a member of the Boston Library Consortium (BLC), which provides cooperative borrowing and use privileges at 17 area university libraries including Tufts, Boston College, Brandeis, MIT, Northeastern, Wellesley College, University of Massachusetts and others. Link to BLC member libraries from the Web at: <http://www.blc.org>.

In order to use BLC libraries, students must have a valid BLC card. BLC cards are issued at the Library Reference Desk, Monday through Friday, 8:30 am – 6:00 pm. Boston University students, faculty, and staff may also use the BLC WorldCat Local system to search and request books owned by any of the participating BLC members.

Library Computing Services

Computing labs and classrooms are located on the 11th floor of the Library. The Library provides a full-service computing service managing approximately 185 student PC and Macintosh computers on L-11 and L-12. A variety of hardware and software including laser printers, Adobe Creative Suite 6 Master Collection, SAS, and more, are available. BU provides free-of-charge anti-virus software to students, faculty and staff at: <http://www.bu.edu/tech/support/desktop/removal/security/mcafee/> and Library computing staff provide student laptop support services.

Hours of Operation

Computer lab service hours are Monday – Friday 8:30 am – 5:00 pm.

The Alumni Medical Library website at <http://medlib.bu.edu> provides access to the Library's e-journals, e-books, bibliographic databases, the BU Libraries Search system, BLC member catalogs, and 122 quality-filtered Public Health and other medical and health Subject Guides. The Library website also contains an e-mail based Reference service, Interlibrary Loan request forms, and information about Library and Computing services and policies.

PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

American Public Health Association (APHA)

800 I Street, NW
Washington, DC 20001-3710
202-777-2742
<http://www.apha.org>

The American Public Health Association is the oldest and most diverse organization of public health professionals in the world and has been working to improve public health since 1872. The Association aims to protect all Americans, their families and their communities from preventable, serious health threats and strives to assure community-based health promotion and disease prevention activities and preventive health services are universally accessible in the United States. APHA represents a broad array of health professionals and others who care about their own health and the health of their communities.

APHA builds a collective voice for public health, working to ensure access to health care, protect funding for core public health services and eliminate health disparities, among a myriad of other issues. Through its two flagship publications, the peer-reviewed American Journal of Public Health and the award-winning newspaper The Nation's Health, along with its e-newsletter Inside Public Health, the Association communicates the latest public health science and practice to members, opinion leaders and the public.

Most faculty at the School belong to the APHA. Membership applications for the APHA are available in the School of Public Health Student Services Office (Talbot-209 Center). Full-time students are eligible for membership discounts.

APHA's 2013 annual meeting will be held in Boston, MA, November 2nd-6th. Students are encouraged to attend; stipends are available for students whose papers are accepted for presentation. For more information, see the APHA Annual Meeting webpage at: <http://www.apha.org/meetings/> or contact the Office of Student Services at 617-638-5062.

Boston Center for Refugee Health and Human Rights

At Boston Medical Center

771 Albany Street, Dowling 7

617.414.4794

www.bcrhhr.org

Difficult life events can have an impact on health, emotions, and sense of identity and purpose. At the Boston Center for Refugee Health and Human Rights (BCRHHR), the importance of a healthy body, mind and soul are recognized. In an effort to serve survivors of torture and related trauma, the BCRHHR firmly recognizes the importance of providing care to the whole person.

The mission of the BCRHHR is to provide comprehensive health care for refugees and survivors of torture and related trauma coordinated with legal aid and social services; to educate and train agencies and professionals who serve these communities; to advocate for the promotion of health and human rights in the U.S. and worldwide; and to conduct clinical, epidemiological and legal research for the better understanding and promotion of health and quality of life for survivors of torture and related trauma.

The BCRHHR reaches out to refugee communities and torture survivors and welcomes you to contact them. In these difficult times, it is especially important to find places of safety and trust. The Refugee Center has served as a site for students to complete their practicum.

The Center for Health Quality, Outcomes & Economic Research (CHQOER) is one of 14 VA Health Services Research and Development (HSR&D) centers of excellence. The Center is closely affiliated with Boston University School of Public Health and CHQOER faculty all have appointments with the Department of Health Policy and Management. The Center's research focus emphasizes studies that address medication effectiveness, patient safety, and enhancing patient-centered care. The Center also has extensive experience in using and analyzing large-scale databases, and in all aspects of survey methodology. A strong emphasis is placed on teaching the skills of health services research through our post-doctoral training program and physician fellowships.

The Center for Global Health & Development (CGHD) at Boston University is a multidisciplinary research center that engages faculty from across the University to help solve the critical global health and social development challenges of our time. The mission of the center is not only to conduct high-quality applied research, but also to advocate for the use of this research to improve the health of underserved populations around the world. Through collaborative work with scientists worldwide, we also seek to strengthen individual and institutional capacity to conduct and utilize research.

Over 90 employees and field staff are engaged in center-based research activities in more than 20 countries. They include clinical scientists trained in infectious diseases, internal medicine, and pediatrics; epidemiologists and demographers trained in the core public health disciplines; social scientists ranging from economists and lawyers to medical anthropologists; as well as a diverse range of experts from other professions.

Much of their collective work is organized into the following themes:

- HIV/AIDS
- Neonatal & Child Survival
- Pharmaceutical Access, Innovation & Use
- Health Systems Strengthening and Financing
- Sex, Sexuality, Gender and Health
- Poverty & Development

www.hdwg.org

The Health and Disability Working Group (HDWG) promotes strategies that improve the delivery of medical, behavioral, and support services to adults with disabilities and chronic illnesses, children with special health needs and people living with HIV/AIDS. Our primary focus is on low income, minority and disenfranchised populations. HDWG is a research, technical assistance and training program at the Boston University School of Public Health. HDWG is currently engaged in three national initiatives:

- a cooperative agreement with the federal Maternal and Child Health Bureau on financing care for children and youth with special health care needs;
- a national evaluation and support center on improving access to HIV oral health care, working with 15 demonstration sites across the country; and
- an evaluation of HIV peer education training programs.

HDWG also works on statewide and local projects to improve health care for children in out-of-home placement; evaluate innovative service delivery models for working-age adults with disabilities, and assess the publicly funded long-term care delivery systems for adults and elders with disabilities. Part of BUSPH's Department of Health Policy and Management, HDWG uses an interdisciplinary approach, working closely with faculty and staff from the departments of Maternal and Child Health, Social and Behavioral Health, Biostatistics, and the BU School of Social Work.

The Practice Office

The Office of Public Health Practice teaches BUSPH students the applications of public health principles and builds partnerships with the community. We foster the professional development of our students by providing hands-on practicum experiences and career services. We also manage programs that strengthen public health systems, train the workforce, and promote health in the community.

Our Office focuses on the following areas:

PRACTICUM	COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Academic & administrative structure for MPH practicum • One-on-one student advising • Partnerships with public health agencies & organizations • Comprehensive online postings • Professional development workshops & poster presentations 	Workforce Development	Community Partners Programs

Public Health Practicum: The practicum experience allows BUSPH students to apply classroom learning in a public health work environment. Practicum students contribute to the solution of public health problems while developing practical skills and personal confidence as public health professionals.

Public Health Systems & Workforce Development: The Practice Office serves as a convener and host for initiatives that focus on critical issues for the local public health community. Combining service, education, and research, the practice office has taken on a range of issues including, emergency preparedness, workforce training & credentialing, practice-based research and disparities in public health services.

Community Partners Programs: Throughout the year, the Practice Office facilitates and promotes community programs with education and health objectives. These programs encourage collaboration between BUSPH and our neighbors in Greater Boston and provide important opportunities for our students to grow professionally through service to their community.

STUDENT LOUNGES, STUDY ROOMS, and SPECIAL USE ROOMS

SPH Student Lounge

Talbot Building, 109/110 East

Located on the first floor of the Talbot Building, the School of Public Health maintains a student lounge which is divided into two separate areas: an open lounge space (T-109), and a separate room (T-110) with several public-use computers.

Guidelines for Use of the SPH Student Lounge

The Boston University School of Public Health Student Senate developed and adopted the following guidelines for use in the SPH student lounge. The purpose of these guidelines is to ensure that the SPH student lounge is used in a productive and collegial manner for students. These guidelines are posted in the SPH student lounge so that students may actively manage their lounge.

1. This lounge is intended to be an informal atmosphere.
2. We welcome you to use the space for small (up to 4-5 people) group working meetings and for socializing. Please bear in mind that students often use this space for individual study as well, and that low-volume discussion is appreciated when others are there.
3. If you are using the lounge for a group meeting or engaging in conversation please be mindful of classes be conducted in the adjacent classrooms.
4. Students are welcome to use the refrigerator and microwave located in the lounge. Please be sure to name and date your food and clean up after yourself. This is student space and will be the responsibility of those who use it to clean it.
5. It is expected that students will resolve any difficulties pertaining to use of the study rooms according to the guidelines.
6. Doors to the lounge must be left unlocked at all times while the room is in use.
7. Cell phone conversations must take place outside of the lounge.

BUMC Graduate Student Lounges

There is one student lounge in the basement of the Instructional (L) Building and another on the 14th floor of the Instructional (L) Building. These lounges are open to all students on campus.

There is also a lounge on the 14th Floor of the Instructional Building that has quiet space for studying and napping when the room is not scheduled for an event. There are tables, chairs, and couches available for students.

Rooms are also available for students to use on the main floor of the Robinson building.

As BUMC grow, there's an increasing demand for limited space on the campus. To accommodate students and the need for space in which to study, Educational Media Center's Office of Resource Scheduling provides a study room availability list on the web. This list is composed of one PDF file which contains 2 days (today & tomorrow) data; it lists all the classrooms available for student group study.

Currently it is linked at <http://www.bumc.bu.edu/bumc/emc/ors/studyrooms> .

EMC's Office of Resource Scheduling is happy to assist you in any way we can.

Medical Campus Study Room Guidelines

Boston University Medical Campus students, in concert with the student services and administrative offices of the Medical Campus, developed and adopted the following guidelines for use in study rooms. The purpose of these guidelines is to ensure that study room space is used in a productive and collegial manner for group study. These guidelines are posted in each study room so that Medical Campus students may actively manage their study room spaces.

Guidelines:

1. Use of study rooms is available to Boston University Medical Campus students who are current Terrier Card holders.
2. It is expected that students will resolve any difficulties pertaining to use of the study rooms according to the guidelines.
3. Please respect the schedule for room use posted by the Office of Resource Scheduling. Questions may be directed to 617-638-4040. Meetings and classes may be added to the schedule up to the time of the event, and students utilizing the room for study purposes must yield to a scheduled meeting or class.
4. Windows to study rooms must be uncovered so others can see if the room is in use.
5. Doors to study rooms must be left unlocked at all times while the room is in use.
6. One person in a study room must share the study room with an arriving study group. (A group is defined as two or more students).
7. Room Audio Visual equipment should be used for group study only.
8. Rooms should not be left unattended for more than 30 minutes. Any items, including books, personal effects, and the like, which remain in the room after 30 minutes of disuse may be stacked neatly to one side by the next person to use the room. The risk of damage to or loss of unattended items is assumed by the owner.
9. Trash should be placed into the trash receptacles in the rooms.
10. BUMC Administration may restrict the use of study rooms or request that students vacate rooms that need to be utilized for scheduled classes, meetings or emergencies.

MEDICAL CAMPUS STUDY ROOM GUIDELINES (continued)

To report non-compliance, please contact:

School of Medicine: 617-638-4166

School of Dental Medicine: 617-638-4787

School of Public Health: 617-638-5059

Special Use Rooms

Lactation Rooms Available on Campus

Evans Building Location:

A room dedicated for nursing mothers to pump breast milk is now available for use by faculty, staff, and students from the Schools of Medicine, Dental Medicine, and Public Health. The room (E744), located on the 7th floor of the Evans building attached to the School of Medicine, is equipped with a chair, two tables, bathroom with toilet and sink (& soap, paper towels, disinfecting wipes), coat hooks, and a breast pump, generously donated by the BMC Breastfeeding Center. The pump is an Ameda Egnell Elite model. Breast pump kits for use with this pump are available for a discounted employee/student rate ($42.50) through the BMC Lactation Service Department (for assistance, call 617-414-MILK (6455) and leave a message). Personal use breast pumps are also available for purchase with an employee/student discount ($174.83). The room also has six small lockers (~8 cubic inches) available for storage; users must provide their own locks.

Scheduling

Access to the Lactation Room is restricted so users must make arrangements to reserve time for use and obtain access privileges by contacting the Educational Media Center/Office of Resource Scheduling (ORS) at 617-638-4040 or emc_roomscheduling_bumc@bu.edu.

Detailed directions to E744 will also be provided by the ORS.

Questions and Feedback

Questions and feedback regarding the Lactation Room are welcome-please contact Lucy Milne in Educational Media (lmilne@bu.edu) or Stephanie Oberhaus in the Department of Microbiology (oberhaus@bu.edu).

Crosstown Center Location:

There is also a designated lactation room located at the Crosstown Center (801 Massachusetts Avenue), available for BUSPH faculty, staff and students. Women interested in using this room should contact Sally Dwyer (spzdwyer@bu.edu) or 617-414-1406 for additional information.

BUMC Meditation/Multidenominational Prayer Room

BMC's Newton Pavilion Interfaith Chapel, located on the second floor of 88 East Newton St., is the new location for students, faculty and staff to use for meditation and multidenominational prayer. The chapel is available 24 hours a day seven days a week. Catholic Masses are celebrated Sundays at 1 p.m., and Tuesdays and Thursdays at noon. An Ecumenical service is held at noon on Sundays.

Muslim Jumma Prayer services are offered Fridays at 12:30 p.m. at the Carter Auditorium, connected via securecard entry to the Yawkey Ambulatory Care Center second floor. The street access for the Carter Auditorium is 35 North Hampton Square (South Block). Please see the detailed directions below.

Directions to the Carter Auditorium

From BMC (BUMC employees and students, please note, securecard access is required):

- In the Yawkey building take the elevator to the second floor.
- Take a right off of the elevator toward BU Eye Associates.
- Go over the Mass Ave. bridge past BU Eye Associates.
- Proceed through the wooden door to the double doors requiring securecard access.
- Follow the signs to the Carter Auditorium by proceeding through the glass walkway to the end.
- Carter Auditorium is located right off the hallway.

BUMC employees and students may request securecard access by contacting the ID Office, room 102, 710 Albany St., Monday-Friday, 7-9 a.m. and 12:30-3 p.m. For more information, call 638-6879.

From the street:

- Enter the building at 35 North Hampton St.
- Take the elevator on the left to the fourth floor.
- Step out of the elevator and take a left.
- Follow hallway to the right to Carter Auditorium.

Contacts: Morgan Leighton, mlouis@bu.edu

The Creative Arts Society was started in 1995 to recognize, support, and develop the healthy creativity that so many demonstrate. We are open to all members of the Boston Medical Center community and count students, faculty, staff, physicians, and administrators among our members.

From its inception, the Creative Arts Society has provided a forum for both budding and seasoned artists to build their portfolios and exhibit their work to a large community of enthusiastic patrons. It brings artists of different media together to experiment and discuss. If you are involved in ANY artistic endeavor, we want to hear about it! Use us as a resource to help support you and your work.

Sexual Assault and Violence Awareness Project (SAVAP)

Medical Campus

Contacts: Anna Goldenheim, amdg@gmail.com

The Sexual Assault and Violence Project was designed to increase awareness about violence and abuse in the community and to provoke modification in the trend. This project wishes to inform medical students in particular to recognize the signs of abuse and the proper procedure to go through in reporting such instances. In recognizing red flags from particular third party stances, we also wish to draw focus on potentially overlooked warnings in our own interpersonal relationships. As with so many organizations, we idolize community outreach and we are here to support and foster the surrounding areas so that they may reach their full potential.

Our organization showcases the diversity of the students, faculty, and staff at the medical campus and joins the network of many other LGBT organizations within the Boston University system and the surrounding community. The primary goal of LGBTPM is to provide a safe, supportive environment for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and allied students, faculty, and staff. We are here to educate future and current health professionals on the social issues and health concerns of the LGBT community in order to break down prejudices and misconceptions that can undermine patient care and personal growth. We encourage professional and personal development through discussions, conferences, socials, community activism and advocacy. School of Public Health students, staff and faculty are welcome to join or participate.

Outreach Van Project (OVP)

people.bu.edu/outreach/

outreach@bu.edu

The BUSM Outreach Van Project (OVP) is a student-run, student-directed project that was started in January 1997 by a group of medical and public health students from Boston University. Inspired by the former Executive Director of Health Care for the Homeless in Boston, the project has received a great amount of support from the Boston University school administration and its students, as well as from many organizations around the city of Boston. The mission of OVP is to fulfill the unmet needs of the medically underserved populations in the Greater Boston area (the homeless, migrant workers, immigrants, and others) particularly with regard to providing health care and access to services, while allowing an opportunity for students to learn skills in community outreach. Currently, the Outreach Van leaves BUMC one night per week staffed by no fewer than four volunteers consisting of students from the Schools of Medicine, Dentistry, Public Health, and Social Work and a licensed physician.

Volunteers on the van are involved with talking to people on the streets, performing outreach work, tying people into existing community services and providing health education. On the more medical side, students, based on their training, are involved in taking blood pressures, eliciting histories, and attending to basic medical needs under the supervision of a physician. The Outreach Van Project is one of few opportunities for students of allied health professions to jointly experience hands-on outreach in its natural setting. As such, participation with the van has been as integral aspect of our training as we prepare to commit ourselves to a lifetime of health and human services. While outreach is something new for many of us –something that will be learned “on the job”– it is important to recognize it as a profession with unique skills and techniques. There are hundreds of outreach educators in Boston who devote their careers to improving ways to best connect with individuals and link them to existing services.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

www.sph.bu.edu/studentorganizations

All BUSPH recognized student organizations are student-run, organized, and facilitated. In applying for recognition to become an officially recognized student organization of the Boston University School of Public Health, students must work with the Office of Student Services to ensure that the organization mission is unique, and cannot be served by an already established BUSPH/BUMC student organization. Additionally, the mission of each organization focuses on public health (as defined by the APHA). All Boston University School of Public Health community members (students, faculty, staff and alumni) are encouraged to participate.

Contact Brendan Hoey (brendan2@bu.edu), 617-638-5062 if you are interested in joining or applying to start a new SO. Below is a list of currently active SOs:

- BUSPH Student Senate
- BU Biostatistics Student Association (BUBSA)
- Health and Human Rights Caucus (HHRC)
- BUSPH Rotaract
- Public Health Alliance for Minorities Caucus (PHAM)
- International Student Organization
- AcademyHealth
- The Movement Online Student Journal
- Medicine and Public Health Student Association (MPHSA)
- Students for Quality Health Care (SQHC)
- MCH in Action

Student Senate

phsenate@bu.edu

The BUSPH Student Senate serves as a centralized student leadership organization that represents and, as appropriate, acts on behalf of the BUSPH student body. Roles and responsibilities include:

- Work with BUSPH administration and staff to address issues that are of importance to BUSPH students;
- Sponsor activities and events that encourage the development of student life at BUSPH;
- Identify students as members on appropriate standing committees of BUSPH.

Student Senate General Body meetings are open to all BUSPH students, and are held three times a semester from 5-6PM.

5 PM Socials

This is an hour of free food with a varying cultural theme. They are held in the Chequer's food area in the L-basement three or four times per semester. Students meet and enjoy food before the 6pm classes begin.

Student Meetings with the Dean

Open discussions with the Dean are held three times a semester. This is an informal setting for students to speak with Dean Meenan about issues they find important. They are held from 5-6PM, and free food is served.

NATIONAL PUBLIC HEALTH WEEK

National Public Health Week is celebrated every year during the month of April. SPH students organize many events during the week, including seminars, presentations, and panel discussions on pertinent topics in the field of public health. In addition to this programming, volunteer groups spend a day or multiple days presenting educational programs at local high schools based on the APHA chosen theme for that year. Students can either create and implement new presentations or use presentations that have already been created in the past. If interested in participating in the 2014 NPHW activities, please contact Brendan Hoey, brendan2@bu.edu.

Students are encouraged to join any of the above organizations at any time. Check out the student related web pages that are linked to the BUSPH web page under student life at: <http://sph.bu.edu>, or check out the Student Org section of the Student Insider sph.bu.edu/si

The Student Employment Office is a centralized office comprised of Work-Study, Student Job Service and Student Payroll. The Student Job Service includes Quickie Jobs, Part-Time Jobs and Summer Jobs, which offer a variety of employment opportunities to currently enrolled degree candidates at Boston University. Part-Time and Summer Jobs can be found on the online Job Board located on the Student Link. Positions are available both on campus and throughout the greater Boston area.

Quickie Jobs provide a unique opportunity for students to work at a variety of one-time-only or short-term employment opportunities that last under one month in duration. These jobs range from yard work and party help to office work and web development. Quickie Jobs require students to present their Boston University ID card at the Student Job Service Office in order to receive information on how to contact an employer.

Students can view all job listings on the Student Link, www.bu.edu/studentlink, under the “Work” category. Students can also visit our website at www.bu.edu/seo for more information and to register for Quickie Jobs. The Student Job Service Office does perform background checks on employers. Students are reminded to use good judgment when accepting a position.

Their mission is to provide excellent service to students, parents, alumni, faculty, staff, sponsoring agencies and others in support of the academic, administrative and financial activities of Boston University.

OFFICE OF STUDENT SERVICES

715 Albany Street, Talbot 2 Center
617-638-5062
<http://sph.bu.edu/students>

The Office for Student Services centralizes administrative support for all SPH courses and programs, organizes Orientation and plans Commencement activities. The office promotes student life through the BUSPH Student Senate, student organizations and social events. Student organizations allow students to combine community activism with peer interaction. Recent activities have included the Boston AIDS Walk, Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Walk, and a high school intervention during National Public Health Week. The Office acts as a liaison between students and faculty, advocating for student needs and concerns. Students receive regular updates from the office throughout the year, primarily through e-mail (see SPH STUDENT INSIDER, p.151). Student-related web pages can be found linked to the Student Services web page (address listed above).

Please contact Mary Murphy-Phillips about any area related to student life at 617-638-5059, mcmurph@bu.edu.

Orientation Programs at BUSPH

For the Fall of 2013, the Student Orientation Program for new degree candidates will be held on Wednesday, August 28 and Thursday, August 29, 2013. The date for the Spring 2014 Orientation has not been announced. BUSPH Orientation includes an introduction to the School by the Deans, concentrator meetings, library orientation sessions and the opportunity to meet with faculty, staff and other students. The Orientation Program concludes with an informal reception.

Commencement

The Boston University All-University Commencement Exercises will be held on Sunday, May 18, 2014 at Nickerson Field at 1:00 pm. The School of Public Health confers its degrees at a separate afternoon ceremony and reception during Commencement Weekend. A SPH student and guest speaker are featured in the afternoon ceremony. Students who graduate in September or January are encouraged to participate in the May commencement exercises. Please note that there are three graduation dates each year, but only one Commencement ceremony.

The Office for Student Services functions as the event coordinator for Commencement. Please contact Mary Murphy-Phillips, 617-638-5059, mcmurph@bu.edu if you have questions about Commencement. If you have questions about applying or qualifying for graduation, please contact the SPH Registrar's Office at 617-638-5001.

AUDIO/VISUAL EQUIPMENT

Student Services orders audio-visual (A/V) equipment for School of Public Health courses from Educational Media. Students may request an LCD Projector, a VCR with TV monitor, an overhead projector, a slide projector and flip charts for classroom presentations.

Requests for A/V equipment must be submitted in writing to Student Services at least one week prior to the date the equipment is needed. Students must provide audio and videotapes, transparencies and slides.

Course Evaluations

The Boston University School of Public Health is dedicated to excellence in teaching. Feedback from students is extremely important to ensure that our courses are consistently high quality. An email notification is sent to students at the end of each course inviting them to complete an electronic evaluation. Student evaluations are taken very seriously; student comments and suggestions will be used to make improvements in courses. Evaluation results are distributed to the Dean, department chairs and faculty, after grades have been submitted. Students are encouraged to use evaluations from past semesters when deciding to register for a course. Course evaluations are available to view via the Student Insider under the Helpful Links section.

Course Readers and Textbooks

SPH STUDENT INSIDER (sph.bu.edu/si)

The BUSPH Student Insider is the source for student information including: news, events, jobs, career advice, ticket offerings, student organization updates, Student Senate news, graduation info, internship opportunities, Student Link, program advisories, registrar resources, and more...

Emails from the website will be sent a few times a week with links to current articles. This is the primary method of communication between students and the administration. All listserves come from the email address sphstdnt@bu.edu. Matriculated School of Public Health students who have attained a BU e-mail account will automatically be placed on the email list during that particular semester.

You may permanently subscribe a non-BU email account to this listserv (thus eliminating the need to be a registered SPH student with a BU email account). However, attaining a BU email account provides other benefits. The Kerberos password that gives you access to your BU email account is the same password needed to access your grades on the Student Link (see, p.136). Please see E-MAIL on p.108 for further information.

Please note: It is the student's responsibility to obtain information disseminated through the SPH Student Insider. This includes obtaining a BU email account, making sure that it is maintained properly and that you are in fact part of the Student Insider e-mail listserv. If you discover that you are not receiving regular email announcements during the academic semester, please contact Brendan Hoey at brendan2@bu.edu or 617-638-5062. Student employees of Boston University should contact Student Services to ensure receipt of the Student Insider emails.

To view the Student Insider please visit: <http://sph.bu.edu/si>.

MBTA passes are available to students at an 11% discount for the Fall semester : October, November, December and January and for the Spring semester: February, March, April and May. Passes are paid for up front and collected each month. Visit <http://www.bumc.bu.edu/transcomm/mbta-service/student/> for information.

BUMC Shuttle Services

There are free shuttle buses that service the medical area community. All shuttles operate Monday-Friday except during holidays.

The Boston University Shuttle (The BUS): the bus travels regularly between the Medical Campus and the Charles River Campus from 7:00am through 11pm on weekdays. Visit www.bu.edu/thebus for a current schedule.

Evening Shuttle providing service to Transit ('T') and Parking Facility:

The evening shuttle boards at ONE CENTRAL STOP, located at 710 Albany St. Garage. This site is indoor, well-lit, and includes a 24-hour staff on-site. This shuttle operates Monday through Friday (except holidays) @ 5:15pm, 6:00pm, 7:00pm, 8:00pm, 9:15pm, 10:15pm, 11:15pm, and 12:15am.

The shuttle travels ON REQUEST to:

- Parking Facilities
- MBTA Station: Andrew, Broadway (Red), Ruggles, Back Bay (Orange), and Copley (Green).
- Nearby South End neighborhood locations (within one mile)

All-Day Medical Campus Shuttle: operates from 6:30am - 6:30pm on a continuous loop leaving 1010 Mass Ave. at five past every half hour and stopping at several locations on the medical campus. Schedules are available at http://www.bmc.org/patients/directions/bus-shuttlebuses.htm#all_day

Boston VA Medical Center, Jamaica Plain Shuttle: travels between the VA Medical Center to the BU Medical Center, 88 East Newton St. several times a day. Call 617-638-6064 for the schedule.

Additional Services & Resources

Public Safety Service

Public Safety provides escort service to medical area facilities, parking lots and the Broadway and Andrew subway stations (Red Line) during the night hours (12:15am to 6:00am) and on weekends and holidays at all hours. You can request this service by calling 617-638-4444. When calling Public Safety for a ride, please allow a minimum of twenty minutes in the event that they are attending to an emergency.

Bicycles

Around the BMC/BUMC area, there are many bike racks and two secured bike cages for all members of the medical community to use. The racks, which are accessible 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, are not reserved but are on a “first-come/ first-served” basis. The cages are sheltered from the weather and are card access. The annual fee for the bike cages is $20. Visit www.bumc.bu.edu/transcomm/bike/ for a map of bike cage locations and for registration information.

Carpooling

Carpooling saves money and decreases air pollution and traffic congestion. If you would like to share a ride as driver or passenger, please call our office. Two or more persons commuting together can register for a carpool sticker in order to park in the designated spot in the 610 Parking Garage. Please register with our office or fill out the form at www.bumc.bu.edu/transcomm/forms/.

Walking

TranSComm has interesting and helpful walking maps of the campus and surrounding neighborhood. Please call or drop by to pick up your copy. www.bumc.bu.edu/transcomm/walking-map/

Taxi Reimbursement Program

What: Taxi Reimbursement Program for weekend and holiday nights

Who: Boston University Medical Campus Students only: Valid BUMC ID required

Why: The purpose of this program is to provide a safe alternative for BU Medical Campus students who might ordinarily walk to their homes or to MBTA stations (to get home) after dark on weekend and holiday nights when the Evening Shuttle is not in service.

When: Weekend (Saturday & Sunday) and holiday evenings only between DUSK and 1:00AM. Please note: Monday through Friday (except holidays) transportation is provided by the Evening Shuttle.

Where: Local MBTA stops and students' residences located within a 2-mile radius of 70 East Newton Street. If you need to determine if your home is within the authorized range, please check on mapquest.com to calculate the distance from 70 East Newton Street, zip code 02118.

Directions to Taxi Pick-up Location: From the Medical School: Go to the 2nd floor of the L-building, walk towards the hospital, over the East Newton Street bridge (Starbucks) and walk down the stairs into the main lobby. Take a left, follow the sign to Emergency and look for the lighted Security Station.

The location for pickup is 70 East Newton Street: just outside the doors to the ER where the ambulances arrive.

How: Students should go to the Security Desk located in the lobby of Boston Medical Center, East Newton Pavilion by the Emergency Department. Students are required to present a valid Boston University Medical Campus ID to the officer. The Public Safety officer will provide a Student Taxi Reimbursement Form to the student to complete, sign, and date. There are taxi phones on an adjacent wall. The student is responsible for paying the taxi fare at the time of the taxi trip. When the trip is complete, obtain a receipt from the driver that shows the Date and Time of the trip, Destination Address, Fare Amount, Tip Amount, and Total Amount.

Should you have any questions that the Public Safety Officer is unable to answer, request the officer to contact a supervisor.

Reimbursement for Taxi Fare: To request reimbursement (Not to Exceed $10.00), present the yellow copy of the Student Taxi Reimbursement Form together with your Taxi Receipt to your School's Student Affairs/Services office, within 30 days of the Taxi trip. Requests for reimbursements submitted after 30 days following the Taxi trip are not eligible for reimbursement.

Zipcar

TranSComm is affiliated with Zipcar, the car-sharing concept. Because we are members of Zipcar, BUMC staff and students receive a discount on application and membership fees. Two vehicles are available on this campus! Contact www.zipcar.com for more information.
