

Consigning the 1970s to History

International expert meeting
Convenors: Duco Hellema & Beatrice de Graaf

May 13 and May 14, 2014
Utrecht University

For practical matters or to register
please contact Susanne Keesman
s.j.keesman@uu.nl
+31 (0) 30 - 253 84 70

Nigel Ashton (London School of Economics)
The end of the Golden Decade and the impact of the oil crisis

Floribert Baudet (Netherlands Defense Academy)
The rise of the human rights paradigm in the Netherlands and abroad

Frans Becker (Wiarid Beckman Stichting)
Social-democracy at a turning point? The Den Uyl Administration in comparative perspective

Stefan Bekedam (Utrecht University)
Legal fights, moral fissures. The struggle over abortion in Europe

Jeremy Black (University of Exeter)
The rise of consumer's society. Democratization of consumption

Beatrice de Graaf (Utrecht University)
Law and order. Towards a new intransigence

James Kennedy (University of Amsterdam)
Neo-conservatism: the 1970s and the moral 'Tendenzwende' in the Netherlands revisited

Katharina Kunter (Bochum University)
The churches and the moral revival of the 1970s

Bruce Schulman (Boston University)
The Global Crisis of the Welfare State and the Rise of Neo-Liberalism

Kim van der Wijngaart (University College Utrecht)
The Year of Europe: transatlantic tensions of the 1970s revealed