

CURA COLLOQUIUM

"Religion, Violence, & Peacemaking"

Fridays, 12-1:30 | 232 Bay State Road
Room 505

January 25

Tortured Readings: Hermeneutics and the Authorization of State Violence

Alexandra Zirkle, Post-Doctoral Associate, Elie Wiesel Center for Jewish Studies

February 22

An Experiment in Post-conflict Social Reconstruction: Lessons from Rwanda

Anne Kubai, Researcher, Department of Theology, Uppsala University

March 1

Petitions against Refugees: A Theological Response to South Koreans' Hostile Reaction to Yemeni Refugee Applicants

Hyunwoo Koo, PhD Student, School of Theology

March 8

The Religious Quest for 'Restoration' and the Matter of Religious Constancy and Variability: A Comparison of Two Theoretical Approaches in Contemporary Islamic Thought

Abaas Yunas, Masters Student, Pardee School of Global Studies

March 29

Drone Warfare: Religious Responses to Technological Advancement of Violence

Judith Oleson, Co-Director, Program on Religion and Conflict Transformation, School of Theology

April 12

Shaping Mission and Longing for Peace in a Contentious Context: A Study of Presbyterian Mission in Darian, 1905-1930

Lingshu Liu, Masters Student, School of Theology

April 19

The Power of the Faithful: Religion and Mass Atrocity Prevention

Kate Temoney, Assistant Professor, Religion, Montclair University

April 26

Sarajevo and Suživot: a Model For Living Together Across Religions and Cultures

Thomas Reid, Masters Student, School of Theology

May 3

Martin Luther on Religion and Violence in the Disputation on the Right of Resistance to the Emperer

Christopher Boyd Brown, Assistant Professor of Church History, School of Theology

*Attendees must read the working papers in advance of the session. Email cura@bu.edu for your copy.