STATEMENT ON REMOTE TEACHING/LEARNING

The American Dental Association Commission on Dental Accreditation (CODA) requires that any program using distance education modalities must verify the identity of each student/resident who registers for the course as the one who participates in, completes, and receives academic credit for the course. This includes methods such as secure login and passcode, proctored examinations, and/or other technologies effective in verifying student/resident identity. In addition, CODA requires that student/resident privacy remain protected..

Boston University Henry M. Goldman School of Dental Medicine (GSDM) affirms that:

- a) Measures are used to verify the identity of each student/resident who registers for the course as the one who participates in, completes, and receives academic credit for the course.
- b) Methods such as secure login and passcode, proctored examinations, and/or other technologies are used to verify student/resident identity.
- c) Verification processes used are to protect student/resident privacy.
- d) Notification of any additional charges associated with student/resident identity verification will be provided at the time of registration or enrollment, or as soon thereafter.

Further information regarding this statement may be obtained by contacting the GSDM Academic Affairs office.
