

Equal Opportunity Office

Supportive Measures

Any individual may make a report of a potential violation of BU's Sexual Misconduct Policy to the Title IX Team and may receive supportive measures. Supportive measures are individualized services meant to restore or preserve access to the living, learning, and working environment; to protect students and employees.

Help may include, but is not limited to:

Referral to University counseling, medical, and/or advocacy services

Referral to community-based service providers for counseling, medical, advocacy, or legal services

Education to the community, community subgroup(s), and opportunities for voluntary individual education

Visa and immigration assistance

Student financial aid counseling

Altering work arrangements for employees or student-employees

Altering campus housing assignment(s)

Safety planning

Providing campus safety escorts

Providing transportation accommodations

No Trespass Order (issued by BUPD)

Restraining/Protective Orders issued under state or federal law

Implementing a BU No Contact Directive between the parties, limiting communication or contact

Class schedule modifications, withdrawals, or leaves of absence

Academic support, extensions of deadlines, or other course/program-related adjustments

Any other actions deemed appropriate by the University Title IX Coordinator or designee

All community members

Student only

Boston University Equal Opportunity Office

To request a supportive measure or learn about your options, you can contact a University confidential resource or a member of the Title IX Team. You can contact the EOO at 617-358-1796.

bu.edu/eoo

